Children Perish as Farm Burns in Minnesota

Surviving Girl Describes Tragedy and How She Escaped

KASOTA, Minn. (AP) — Ten children, "so scared they ran around in circles and didn't know what to do," died in a fire that swept through their farm home.

Another child, Joanne McConnell, 14, was the only occupant to escape the burning home Saturday night. She jumped from a second-story window and, barefoot and wearing only a nightgown, pedaled a mile on her bicycle to the nearest telephone.

Joanne and nine of the victims were children and stepchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bowdish. The other child killed was an orphan boy who lived with the family.

Father Unemployed

Bowdish, an unemployed auto mechanic, had moved his family to the rented house just outside Kasota about a week ago. They had been making repairs on the house the family owned in Mankato, about six miles southwest. Kasota is a town of about 650 population in southern Minnesota.

Mrs. and Mrs. Bowdish were not home when the fire broke out. They had driven to Minneapolis to pick up some appliances which friends had given them.

The victims were Daniel Bowdish, 3; Loretta Bowdish, 4; Lucetta Bowdish, 5; Kenneth Bowdish, 6; Linda McConnell, 9; Marvin McConnell, 10; Richard McConnell, 11; Mary McConnell, 13; Robert McConnell, 16; and Roger Brown, 15. The McConnell youngsters were Mrs. Bowdish's children by a previous marriage.

The Brown boy, an orphan, had been living with the Bowdish family for about two months.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowdish learned of the tragedy when they arrived from Minneapolis about midnight Saturday. Law officers stopped them on the road near the house and broke the news.

The couple went to nearby St. Peter and talked to Joanne, hospitalized there for shock.

Khanh Keeps Post After Revolt Failure

Appleton Man, Son, 13, Die Of Suffocation

Daughter Discovered In Dazed Condition In Big Falls Cottage

BIG FALLS — An Appleton man and his son were found suffocated early today in their cottage near the Little Wolf River near here.

The victims were identified as Walter E. Winske, 47, 3230 N. Oneida St., and his son, David,

Winske David

13. Winske owned and operated the Walter Winske Commercial Photography Studio.

A daughter, Bonnie, 12, also at the cottage for the weekend, was in a dazed condition when Winske's wife discovered them about 1 a.m.

Mrs. Winske, who had been in Appleton, went to the cottage to investigate when Winske and his children did not return. They had been due home at 3 p.m. Sunday.

Charcoal Grill

Waupaca County Undersheriff William Mork said the trio ate a meal Saturday night cooked on a charcoal grill outside the cottage. Before they went to bed, Mork said, Winske apparently brought the grill into the kitchen portion of the three-room frame cottage.

The girl told Mork they all

Air Force Commander Remains Loyal, Helps Frustrate Rebels During Their Bloodless Coup

BY MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — An attempt to overthrow Premier Nguyen Khanh's government collapsed today less than 24 hours after 2,000 rebel troops marched into Saigon and ordered Khanh's arrest as a traitor. Not a shot was fired.

The air force commander, Brig. Gen. Nguyen Cao Ky, who remained loyal to Khanh during the abortive uprising, told a news conference the government of South Viet Nam was "exactly as before the coup." He said the rebel leaders would not be arrested and that unity had been restored.

In Washington, U.S. officials expressed relief that Khanh remained in power but could not say whether the events would bolster or further weaken his

Action No Surprise

The attempted coup, engineered by a group of dissident generals, was not unexpected. Rumors that Khanh faced a revolt swept the city Saturday.

It came while Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, the U.S. ambassador, was out of the country. He returned to the capital early today after four days of talks in Washington during which U.S. officials said they concluded South Viet Nam needs greater political stability to strengthen its war against the Communist Viet Cong.

Residents Unperturbed

Throughout the coup attempt, Saigon residents reacted with sullen indifference. Motorists blew their horns angrily at tanks interfering with traffic. Shoppers paid little attention to announcements broadcast from planes with loudspeakers. Even swooping fighter-bombers failed to arouse much interest.

Had the coup succeeded, it would have been the third in less than a year. President Ngo

NFO Problem To Enforcement Of State Laws

Governor Sees Action Most Serious In Wisconsin History

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON—Gov. John Reynolds said today the National Farmer's Organization livestock withholding action has produced "the most serious problem in law enforcement we have faced in Wisconsin in 35 years or more."

But the governor told a news conference that he feels he has taken "every reasonable precaution to maintain law and order."

As he has said before, the governor explained that the primary responsibility for law enforcement in Wisconsin is the hands of local police and sheriffs' departments.

Spoke Slowly

The state executive spoke slowly and deliberately as reporters popped questions inspired by the incidents of violence reported recently in connection with the determined efforts of the farmers' group to force up meat prices by keeping their animals off the market and their efforts to organize picket lines to discourage non-members from shipping their stock. Reynolds also declined comment to some questions which is unusual for the man whose sessions with reporters are usually free-wheeling affairs.

The governor said he continues to oppose the mobilization of the National Guard as a peace-keeping measure, when reporters brought up the question again and again, evidently reflecting some of the demands of the governor's political critics.

But Reynolds said he would not reply to questions about the

Pope Again Voices Plea For Unity

BY GERALD MILLER

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI opened the third and possibly decisive session of the Vatican Ecumenical Council today, calling on bishops of the Roman Catholic Church to define their place in Church government with regard to the pontiff. He pledged anew to help the search for Christian unity.

Symbolizing the sharing of papal-episcopal power, the Pope celebrated a special Mass with 24 prelates on the altar of St. Peter's.

Then in an address to the 2,500 council fathers from around the globe, the Pope:

—Declared that the papal-bishop issue was the most important task of the council.

—Said this council must complete the concept of papal-episcopal sharing left unfinished by the last council.

Shared Authority

—Stressed that sharing authority with bishops in governing the church meant no lessening of papal primacy.

—Told the bishops that the problems and dangers of modern life demanded a greater need for centralized leadership of the Church.

—Promised to do all possible to bring Catholics and other Christians together.

Pope Paul called the task of defining papal-bishop authority the "weightiest and most delicate" mission of the council. The issue has important implications for Christian unity.

Sacred Authority

—As successors of Peter and therefore possessors of full power over the entire Church, we have the duty of heading the body of the episcopate," the Pope said. "Nevertheless our position in no way defrauds you, our brother bishops, of your due authority."

"On the contrary we are among the first to respect that sacred authority."

Greatest Problem

The issue of shared papal-episcopal authority has divided the progressive and conservative elements in the council, and its resolution is expected to set the tone of Roman Catholicism in the modern world.

Some conservative prelates want to put the whole matter of shared authority off to some future council, or leave it entirely to the Pope.

Pope Paul apparently was referring to such opposition when he said today:

"The fathers of the First Vatican Council (held in 1869-70) defined and proclaimed the truly unique and supreme powers conferred by Christ on Peter and handed on to his successors. This recognition has appeared to some as having limited the authority of bishops... and as having rendered superfluous and prevented the convocation of a subsequent ecumenical council, which, however, according to canon law has supreme authority over the entire Church."

Can't Sidetrack Issue

The Pope then made clear that the issue of shared authority could not be put aside at this council.

He said: "the present ecumenical synod is certainly going to confirm the doctrine of the previous one regarding the prerogatives of the Roman pontiff. But it will also have as its principal objective the task of describing and honoring the prerogatives of the episcopate."

In possibly his strongest commitment to have the council

Cardinal in Collapse at Rome Council

ROME (AP) — James Francis Cardinal McIntyre of Los Angeles collapsed today during the ceremonial reopening of the Vatican Ecumenical Council in St. Peter's.

Doctors said a combination of fatigue and heat in the church, filled with 2,500 council fathers and several thousand spectators, caused him to lose consciousness.

The cardinal was wheeled on a stretcher to a first aid station, then driven by ambulance to the Blue Sisters Clinic on Rome's Celian Hill. Electrocardiograms taken there showed his heart function was normal, doctors said.

Cardinal McIntyre, 78, was standing in the third row of the cardinals' section, the section nearest the altar in St. Peter's Basilica. Just after the consecration of the Mass, he collapsed.

Carlo Cardinal Confalonieri, an Italian member of the Curia, was nearest him and helped him into his seat. Cardinal Confalonieri made the sign of the cross over the motionless figure.

Attendants hurried over with a wheeled stretcher and took Cardinal McIntyre to a first aid station.

Ex-Olympic Official Charged With Murder In African Bombing

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP) — John Harris, 27, former chairman of the South African Nonracial Olympic Committee, was charged in Pretoria Supreme Court today with murder, causing a bomb explosion at Johannesburg's central railroad station on July 24, and sabotage.

He was ordered held for another hearing Sept. 21.

They Have Grim Memories

Survivors of Bataan March Have Reunion

BY JAMES R. PEIPERT

MAYWOOD, Ill. (AP) — It was like most groups of men who hadn't seen each other in a long time. There were words of greeting followed by talk of business, children and wives.

These men were bound together by a special kind of knot. They are survivors of an unforgettable death march.

They battled the Japanese against overwhelming odds either on the Bataan Peninsula or the fortress of Corregidor during the early months of World War II. All survived the harrowing Bataan death march through the steamy jungles of the Philippine Islands to Japanese prisoner of war camps.

More than 100 of the 638 remaining survivors of the march gathered in Maywood, west of Chicago, over the weekend to renew friendships at a testimonial dinner and a parade. The reunion was sponsored by the Maywood Veterans Council, which claims a special interest in the Bataan survivors because 96 men from Maywood and surrounding Chicago suburbs were captured on the peninsula and marched northward to POW camps. More than half of them died of starvation and maltreatment on the way.

Ted Wickord, 57, a safety supervisor for the Commonwealth Edison Co., has vivid memories of the march.

Wickord, of Broadview, Ill., was a lieutenant colonel in command of the 192nd Tank Battalion. Most of the 192nd was driven to the tip of the Bataan Peninsula, the northern jaw of Manila Bay, by a force of 200,000 Japanese after Gen. Douglas MacArthur withdrew his troops from Manila Dec. 27, 1942.

"The heat was terrific," recalled Wickord, a jovial, balding man. "Pith helmets were selling for $50 and $100. The Japanese bayoneted and machinegunned men who tried

German Immigrant GI Defies Red Police to Rescue Refugee

BY GEORGE BOULTWOOD

BERLIN (AP) — A German immigrant now in the U.S. Army braved East German bullets Sunday to help a wounded refugee escape over the Berlin wall.

Spec. 4 Hans Puhl, 22, was the hero of a 40-minute battle at dawn during which West Berlin police and Communist guards fired dozens of shots at each other. No one was killed, but it was the longest fight since the wall was put up three years ago.

Lying in the middle of the fray, on the Communist side of the wall, was Michael Meyer, 21, from the East German town of Fredersdorf. Communist bullets brought him down as he tried to scramble over the wall to West Berlin.

Communist guards then tried to drag him away, but Puhl — covered by Western police — marched to the wall and ordered the East Germans back.

At a news conference, Puhl said he was riding along the Western side of the wall — in the Kreuzberg District — on a routine patrol with a West Berlin policeman and arrived at the scene just after Meyer had been shot.

The American dashed to the second story of a nearby apartment house for a view of the other side of the wall.

He spotted the young man on the ground.

"Two East German guards were pulling on him," he said. "I pointed my rifle at them and told them to let him go."

"When they did not let him go, I threw a tear gas grenade across the wall in the hope that they would stop bothering the refugee and they did."

Puhl then ran back to the wall gave his rifle to a West Berlin policeman and pulled out his pistol.

"Two West Berliners boosted me up," he continued, "so that I could see across the wall and I called to the refugee not to move and that we were going to cut the wire (on top of the wall)."

When Puhl peered over the wall, the Communists opened fire, hitting the upper edge of the wall and showering him with concrete fragments.

West Berlin police returned the fire from windows of the apartment house. Two East Germans succeeded in reaching Meyer again. One began pulling the refugee, and the other pointed a pistol at Puhl.

"The American pulled his own pistol from the holster, aimed at

Russia Charges China Profiting From Dope

MOSCOW (AP) — The Kremlin has accused Red China of making huge profits from growing and smuggling dope.

Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, said the Chinese government is earning $500 million annually from narcotics.

It claimed Red China used the profits for "anti-Soviet propaganda or to subsidize the puppets of the Peking splitters."

"How Much Am I Offered for these beautiful crystal goblets?", Orville Stern asks the congregation of auction shoppers who gathered at the All Saints Episcopal Church Parish Hall Saturday afternoon. Co-chairman Mrs. Victor Shoaff held the glassware aloft so all could see. Below, the crowd keeps a close watch on items they've chosen for bidding. ### Women of All Saints' Auction

A Crystal Dish, Golf Clubs...

With a wave of the hand or a nod of the head, bidders made known the amount they offered for the variety of items put on the auction block Saturday by the Women of All Saints Episcopal Church. The 2 to 6 p.m. event took place at the Parish Hall.

There was something for every one and every room in the house—playthings for the children, tools and books for dad and appliances for mom. There were tools for lawn and garden, odd crystal and dishes to pretty a kitchen or knick knock shelf, screens for the fireplace and furniture for added storage.

The lively sale was conducted by a team of professional auctioneers who conducted their labor to the hum of children playing in the background.

Mrs. Victor Shoaff and Mrs. Richard Sampson were co-chairmen of the sale.

Greece Readies Royal Rite Despite Threats of War

BY PHILIP DOPOULOS

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — A handsome young Mediterranean king and a teen-age princess from a Viking land will be married Friday in a storybook romance clouded by the Cyprus war threat.

Princess Anne-Marie of Denmark and King Constantine of Greece will exchange vows before a glittering assemblage of kings and queens, princes and princesses, nobles, diplomats and churchmen in a Byzantine ceremony. President Johnson has designated his elder daughter, Lynda Bird, as one of his personal representatives at the wedding.

More than a million spectators — Greeks, visiting Danes, and other foreign tourists — are expected to fill Athens to cheer the couple along the wedding route as they enter their new life in a golden horse-drawn carriage.

Denmark-Greece Linked

With less than a week to go, wedding fever is rising fast. Besides linking Greece and Denmark in an historic union, the marriage will blend storybook traditions to royalty and romance with ultra-modern glamor.

It will turn a lovely, soft-spoken 18-year-old girl into the world's youngest queen — For subjects thought she meddled in the world's youngest king. Constantine is 24.

In today's workaday world of diminished royalty, any blue-blood wedding is enough of a novelty in itself to attract worldwide attention.

Even if she weren't a princess, Anne-Marie has the kind of lithe, Scandinavian good looks that turns heads. Constantine is a rugged black-haired youth who smiles easily, handles a race car like a pro and walked away from the 1960 Rome Olympics with a gold medal in yachting.

King Faces Problem

Their life as king and queen won't be all glamor, Greece is caught up in the grim, dangerous Cyprus problem that could plunge the country into war with Turkey.

The king's powers are limited but he is the armed forces' commander-in-chief and appoints prime ministers in times of political crisis. The king is no mere figurehead and even Constantine's strongest admirers acknowledge that 24 is very young for the job. In the king's absence the queen may be appointed regent to act for him, a tricky job requiring diplomacy and tact.

Constantine's mother, Frederika, was often criticized when she was queen. Not a few of her subjects thought she meddled in

Food Habits Formed in Early Years

Boys and girls will be ready to accept school lunches or restaurant food if you frequently introduce them to new foods at home. By grade school they need to know that it's important to eat the food that is put in front of him will save many a problem.

A child who has new foods introduced frequently at home with no special issue made of it is apt to accept new foods readily. This doesn't mean they will always like every food but they needn't complain either.

Girls and boys have about the same food needs during their school years. Some boys may start their growth spurt early and this means extra snacks, double helpings and more food to fill the cavity. Girls need to develop wise eating habits to carry into their teens.

The more experience grade school children have with eating in other homes, restaurants or school lunch, the more apt they will be to accept various foods as a teen and an adult.

They may even find that Mrs. Jones' casserole, which isn't like mother's, may still be quite good. This may be a time to let youngsters make some of their own concoctions. Offer them the makings for sandwiches or salads and let them make their own.

It's at this age that an interest in food preparation is usually developed. Take advantage of it by teaching good food habits as well as preparation methods.

politics beyond her rights. In this country, popular objections to royal ways can have more than academic meaning. In the last century the Greeks have thrown out monarchs from time to time.

Princes to Convert

But the matters of state lie ahead. Now it's the wedding that counts. In the elegant salons and the clipped formal gardens of the Athens palace there will be parties and balls for the titled and the privileged. There also will be two open-air receptions given by the Greek royal family for the public.

Heads of various Eastern Orthodox churches, including the patriarchs of Jerusalem, Serbia and Romania, plan to come. The honor of officiating will go to 85-year-old archbishop Chrysostomos, the crusty, white-bearded primate of the Orthodox Church of Greece. Anne-Marie, a Lutheran, will convert to Orthodoxy after the wedding.

Women's Groups Respond to Need for Mobile Unit Staff

"TB should die, not people," stated Dr. John Russo, superintendent of Riverview Sanatorium, Kaukauna, as he addressed guests at a luncheon sponsored by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association Wednesday noon at the Elks Club. Present were potential volunteers for the State Mobile Health Survey Unit to be in Appleton from Sept. 28 to Nov. 6.

It is hard to condense 23 years of experience into a few words, Dr. Russo continued, but TB is still a stubborn, highly infectious, acquired disease. Every pre-school child should have a skin test before he enters kindergarten.

Dr. Russo stated that usually two to five per cent of pre-school children tested have a positive reaction, which means that germs are present in the system, perhaps in a dormant state ready to break into a full blown case of TB at any time in life. There is no age limit for the affliction.

Guests at the luncheon were representatives of women's organizations in Appleton. Mrs. Carol Kemps, city nurse and mistress of ceremonies at the luncheon, is coordinating efforts of the women in staffing the State Mobile Survey Unit. Invitations were issued to 37 organizations. Representatives of ten groups responded. However, Mrs. Kemps has stated that a few other groups have accepted the duties of staffing the unit without appearing at the luncheon.

No wedding date has been chosen.

Miss Robinson

The American Legion Auxiliary was represented by Mrs. Gordon Simon, vice president, and Mrs. Oscar Kuhn, community service chairman, who plan to present the need for volunteers — seven are needed at any one time to man the unit — at their next meeting.

Mrs. Wilbur Hack, second vice president of the Appleton Business and Professional Women's Club, and Mrs. William Haes, chairman for civic affairs, said that there would be a problem recruiting at least 20 women of their membership to work. They felt the retired women would be willing to serve.

Four members represented the Women of the Moose: Mrs. Richard Puffer, publicity chairman; Mrs. Paul Locke, social service chairman; Mrs. Chester Lewis, membership chairman, and Mrs. Irvin Felmer, library chairman. They signed their organization for Oct. 8 and 9 when Mrs. Kemps announced that she was trying to fill her calendar with volunteer workers for 30 days.

Mrs. Genevieve Mortell, president of Altrusa and Miss Marie E. Byrne, public affairs chairman, did not foresee any difficulty in obtaining volunteers from their group.

Representatives of the Catholic War Veterans Auxiliary 204, were Mrs. Reinhard Gresenz, president, and Mrs. Dave Haloran, trustee. The women said the request for volunteers would be presented at the next meeting.

Mrs. Joseph Bailin of the Appleton Chapter of Hadassah stated her group would also respond.

Many organizations have not had their first meeting, but representatives felt that volunteers would be available at that time.

Mrs. Charles Bodmer, president, Mrs. Gerald Long and Mrs. Robin Long represented the Jayettes. The Catholic Daughters were represented by Mrs. Frank Taylor and Mrs. Clifford Nelson, who also represented the Chalice Circle of the Kings Daughters. Mrs. Taylor said with 363 members there would be no question about assisting the Survey Unit.

"From the first cause of death in the U. S. at the turn of the century, the TB rate has dropped drastically with the use of new drugs, but this does not mean we should be complacent about TB now or at any time," said Dr. Russo. He also reminded the women that the State Mobile Survey Unit would measure blood pressure and diabetes, and that the chest X-ray would also show any heart abnormality. Anyone over the age of 18 may be tested.

Each woman was given a packet telling the duties of volunteers, the floor plan of the mobile bus, a list of doctors, and the schedule for the visit to take back to her organization.

Mrs. Carol Kemps stated Friday she still needs volunteers for seven days. Women in Appleton with spare time between Sept. 28 and Nov. 6 who would like to serve with the unit have been requested to call the nurse's office at the City Hall.

Miss America's Fiance Unsure of Their Romance

NEW YORK (AP) — A strenuous and glamorous year lay ahead today for Vonda Kay Van Dyke, the new Miss America, but Vonda isn't sure whether she has awakened yet from a dream.

As the newly crowned beauty queen awaited her first meeting with the New York press, her boy friend in Phoenix, Ariz., was hoping that Vonda's year in the spotlight would not change their lives.

Vonda left Atlantic City Sunday, still tearful and wonder-struck by her victory in the nation's oldest beauty pageant Saturday night.

The 21-year-old brunette, her brown eyes glistening as she dabbed them with a tissue, described the dreamlike quality of her coronation.

"After making the walk back and forth on the runway, I started up the steps to the chair. I thought that when I got up there, I would put out my hand and it would not be there," she said.

Future Uncertain

In Phoenix Duane Kapp, 22, a law student at the University of Arizona, was "not too sure what this is going to mean for the two of us."

"I don't quite know how to react, but I know I feel unhappy for myself," he said after Miss Arizona's crowning. "There's a chance this may affect her life, and if this happens I know she won't be the girl I knew and the girl I loved."

Vonda and young Kapp have known each other six years. While they had made no definite plans, marriage "was one of those things we knew would be in the future," he said.

"Vonda's immediate future involves a month here posing for pictures and being fitted out with a wardrobe."

Postpones Senior Year

A senior at Arizona State University, she will postpone her final year of college until after she tours as Miss America.

First prize in the pageant brought her a $10,000 scholarship and an estimated $80,000 in personal appearance contracts. Another $1,000 scholarship came with her selection by the other 49 girls as the pageant's Miss Congeniality — the first time that a Miss America had won the popularity contest.

Sheinwold Rules for Kibitzing Are Simple

Most bridge writers tell you how to bid or play well, but who else gives you rules for good kibitzing? The first rule is familiar to anybody who has served in the army: Don't volunteer.

You are sitting behind South, watching him play the hand at three no trump. He plays the deuce of spades on the first trick, hoping that West will lead another spade.

West turns the trick back and looks at it again. He finally works it out that the six was the lowest spade that East could possibly play. West glares suspiciously at South and switches to the queen of hearts.

South takes the ace of hearts and his four clubs but then has to try the diamond finesse. The defenders collect a diamond and four hearts in addition to the first spade, scoring a penalty of 200 points.

South shakes his head dolefully. "Just as bad if I take the first spade," he comments. "When I lose the diamond finesse they take four spade tricks."

Dangerous Moment

This is your dangerous moment. It would be most unprofessional to volunteer the statement that South played the hand badly. Just clear your throat and lift your eyebrows. This will make it clear that you're too polite to say a word of criticism.

Once they ask you what you have on your mind you must follow the second rule for kibitzers: Be kind to the culprit. Don't say "The idiot goofed." Say: "There's a way to make the hand, but only a real bridge player would see it."

Then you can point out that South should play the jack of spades at the first trick. West will naturally believe that South started with the doubleton A-J and that East has played the six of spades from 8-6-2.

It is safe for West to continue spades, and this time South takes the ace. When South loses the diamond finesse, East cannot return a spade. (If East could, the suit would break 4-3, and South would lose only three spades.)

Be sure to watch this column to learn how much insurance to carry and what a kibitzer should know about curing black eyes.

Daily Question

Partner opens with 1 NT (16 to 18 points), and the next play passes. You hold: S K Q 10 9, H Q J 10 4 D 6 3 C 8 4. What do you say?

Answer: Bid two clubs (the Stayman Convention), asking partner to bid a major suit if he has one. If he bids two spades or two hearts, you will raise to game. If he bids two diamonds (denying a major suit) you will bid two spades.

Fischer Quints a Year Old; Family Keeps Balance, Values

BY JIM BLY
ABERDEEN, S.D. (AP) — Aberdeen is a busy prairie city of 23,000 people — pretty big in these parts — where they raise grain and cattle and produce farm machinery and wood products.

It is a rail and wholesale center, and there is a state teachers college, a hospital and an airport.

Aberdeen has one other thing that makes it unique — absolutely unique. It has quintuplets.

No other hamlet, village, town, city or metropolis in the United States can make that claim.

One year ago — on Sept. 14, 1963 — Mrs. Andrew Fischer, then 30 and the mother of five children, doubled her family in 90 minutes. Aberdeen and the Fischers have never been the same.

On this day there will be no birthday party for the Fischer quintuplets. Mrs. Fischer is expecting again, at any moment, and such is the burden of fame it is a secret whether or not it will be a multiple birth.

This is only one facet of the world of the Andrew Fischers, at once blessed and perplexed by the mathematical chance — one in 42 million — of five live births at one time.

Until a year ago, Andrew and Mary Ann Fischer lived in a gray stucco home on a farm a mile north of town. They had met at a bowling league, married and had five children, Danny, Charlotte, Julie, Evelyn and Denise. Andrew worked in a wholesale grocery warehouse in Aberdeen as a shipping clerk, at $80 a week. The house, which they rented, from Mr. and Mrs. Elroy Harrington, was weather-beaten, and in a blue barn out back the Fischers kept two cows to ease their milk bill.

Well along in her sixth pregnancy, Mrs. Fischer was told by her physician Dr. James Berbos, she could expect a multiple birth. On Sept. 11 Dr. Berbos confirmed from X-rays that she was carrying quintuplets. He told the Fischers. The delivery at St. Luke's Hospital began at 1:58 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 14, and was completed at 3:01 a.m. Four of the infants were girls, and the only boy arrived next to last. He weighed four pounds, the girls from 2½ to 3½ pounds. All were healthy. No anesthesia was used in the delivery.

Then it began. Within hours, the hospital, the city of Aberdeen and the Fischer home became centers of world attention. Dr. Berbos announced he would not charge for his services. Nash-Finch announced that Fischer could stay away from work as long as necessary. The Harringtons offered him the rented home, the hospital indicated there would be no bill, the Aberdeen Chamber of Commerce planned a city-wide celebration, and Mrs. Fischer said, "I'm very happy but it's like a dream."

Fled for Privacy
Offers of help came from everywhere and the Fischers, confused, happy in the health of their newborn, were thrust into a benign national publicity which threatened to engulf them. Andrew Fischer engaged Joseph H. Barnett and Schutz to protect what had suddenly become national property — his family. Within a fortnight the Fischers had succeeded in retreating behind a barrier of semi-privacy from which they have never emerged.

In the meantime the children had been named — Mary Ann, Mary Margaret, Mary Catherine, Mary Magdalene, and James Andrew. They thrived, and by Christmas were at home with their parents and brother and sisters. The Fischers no longer lived on the Harrington place. They had rented a newer home in town, on a quiet street.

Babies Not Seen
It is a split-level, painted light blue with white shutters, and has a spacious back yard closed in with red snow-fencing. Andrew still works at Nash-Finch, and the older Fischer children are often seen around the neighborhood. The quintuplets are rarely seen, even by the neighbors.

The Fischers have a housekeeper now, and she answers the door, advising politely that Mrs. Fischer is not allowed to give interviews. That is correct. Within days of the quintuplets' birth, Curtis Publishing Co., as highest bidder, had bought exclusive news and photo rights at $75,000. Barnett and Siegel, who still represent Fischer, later renegotiated that contract and the terms have not been disclosed. The most common report is that it grants the Fischers $60,000 a year for five years.

The Fischers are parties to two other contracts. One grants the Borden Co. advertising rights on food products and the other gives advertising rights to Brown & Bigelow, one of the nation's largest calendar firms. How much money these will bring the Fischers is not known.

Out on the southwestern edge of town the Fischers have bought an 800-acre farm for $90,000, and a new 20-room house is nearly ready for them. Much of the materials and equipment for the house were donated to the Fischers, and Andrew plans to raise livestock on the place. They expect to move in by November.

Meantime that quiet residential street is no longer quiet. Nearly every car cruising by has out-of-state plates, but few of them stop. Only relatives and close friends cross the Fischer threshold.

The neighbors understand. "I'd rather not say anything," said one. "I know how Mary Ann feels about all this. It's put a real burden on her."

Most neighbors have never seen the quints, or only from afar, when they sunned in the back yard.

"Once," said a neighbor, "when Mrs. Fischer wasn't home, the Fischer children asked my kids if they'd like to see the quints."

"My kids said yes, so the Fischer children took them to the house and Mrs. Fischer's mother held them up to the front window for the children to see."

But the Fischers don't leave home often. They went to a bowling tournament in Minneapolis last spring and Mrs. Fischer topped her team with a 165 average. They good-naturedly ran the gauntlet of newsmen and photographers, disclosing little of their private lives.

Then they came back to Aberdeen, where you can still buy a quintini — a double martini with four olives and a pearl onion — or a quint sundae, with five scoops of ice cream. As you drive into Aberdeen, bold signs on the highway proclaim it as the home town of the Fischer quintuplets. Some of the stores handle quint souvenirs, and you can buy quint dolls — four dressed in pink and one in blue;

NEW LONDON—Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hass, route 3, New London, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Angeline, to Roger Kitzman. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kitzman, route 1, Weyauwega.

Miss Hass is employed at the Aid Association for Lutherans, Appleton. Her fiancé is with the Curwood, Inc.

quint records — the most popular "A Mighty Day in Aberdeen"; five linked safety pins, bumper stickers, buttons and coins. Sales are not brisk.

Safety Precaution
Police cars pass the Fischer home more frequently than homes in other sections, and a direct telephone line links the house with police headquarters. It has never been used.

J. Clifton Hurlbert is still mayor, and he says Aberdeen is growing economically, "but I don't know how much could be attributed solely to the Fischers." He is proud of the way the townspeople have reacted, and proud of the Fischers too, who "have worked to develop a family life without building a protective fence around themselves."

Away From Public

Out on the southwest edge of town things are changing already. More than 300 cars a day pass the new Fischer place, just to watch it being built. The gravel road is going to be paved. The house sits back from the road, and beyond it are some trees. The quintuplets will have three rooms facing the fields, not the road. The house will also contain a large living room, maid's quarters, dining room and a kitchen with open fireplace.

The "hub city" is 83 years old, proud of its past, hopeful for its future. It is proud, too, of the Fischers, both of them typical children of this prairie country. Mary Ann's family still farms a 640-acre spread at Hecla, 50 miles from here, and Andrews' grandparents were homesteaders. Andrew was president of the bowling league when he met Mary Ann, who was secretary. They were married in St. Mary's Roman Catholic church and they settled down to a life of work, and pleasure, and raising a family.

Home and Church
They worked hard at it, and they still do. Their life is still centered on home and church. Mary Ann knows all about milking cows and driving a tractor, and Andrew, when he can, likes to get in a little pheasant hunting.

They're really just like anybody else. Well, they try to be.

Your Problems

Self-Confessed Glamour Boy Wants Gigolo's Overflow Dates

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was very much interested in the letter from the man who described himself as 29, good-looking, and an engaging conversationalist. He wanted to make himself available as an escort, (to quality women only) for 30 dollars an evening, plus expenses. No doubt you have received a tremendous response from women who are interested in acquiring his services. As a matter of fact, I'll bet the gentleman can't possibly accommodate all of them. So, Ann, I would like to take the overflow, for $20 an evening, plus expenses.

I don't want to brag, but I have often been mistaken for Montgomery Clift. I, too, have a car and well-cut clothes. The other fellow emphasized his intellectual qualities. I am more the physical type. I play a fine game of tennis and badminton, enjoy swimming and dancing. I would, of course, be willing to cut you in for putting my letter in the paper and forwarding the names of the lonesome ladies. Thank you.—R. D. No. 11

DEAR R. D.: Don't stand on one foot waiting for the names of the lonesome ladies, Buddy Boy.

I'll give you the same answer I gave the other jerk. Haul your gorgeous hunk of humanity over to an escort service and rent yourself out.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Often you print letters from mothers who rebel at the selfish demands of their married daughters. These mothers have signed their letters, "Exhausted," "Worn Out" and "Fed Up." It's time you printed a letter suggesting that the shoe is sometimes on the other foot. I know, because I wore that shoe for too many years.

My mother lived three blocks away. She telephoned me at least four times a day. I can't count the times I walked into the house and found my phone ringing. Mother's first words were, "Where have you been? I've been trying for an hour to get you."

If I went to visit a friend, mother telephoned me there "to see how I was." She had me paged at church dinners, club meetings, and even in the theater.

Our family doctor told my husband the only solution was for us to move at least 1,000 miles away. My husband (who is a saint) was willing to give up a flourishing business and start again in a new city.

I know now my mother was a sick woman and that I was well on the road to being as sick as she was, but thank God I got away in time.—Blessedly Free

Dear Free: Volumes could be written describing the destruction of daughters — and sons as well — under the guise of "Mother love."

Healthy love allows breathing space. It does not suffocate, demand or impose. The mother who has the respect and affection of her married children knows that love cannot survive in a clenched fist. It must be held lightly—in an open hand.

Liquor can ruin your mind, your body and your life. To learn the booby-traps of teenage drinking, write for Ann Landers' booklet, "Tenn-age Drinking," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. (Copyright, 1964)

Scripture Teaching Compulsory

Church of England Worried About Taking Religion Out of Schools

BY GODFREY ANDERSON

LONDON (AP) — A move to take religious teaching out of Britain's schools has some Church of England people worried. They feel many parents just can't be trusted to see that their children are taught religion at all.

The teaching of scripture and a daily act of worship is compulsory in both state and private schools under the Education Act of 1944. Each child must have a minimum of one period of religious instruction each week. And, because the Church of England is the state-established church the teaching usually conforms with Anglican theology except in cases such as Roman Catholic schools.

Staff Clergy

While Britain's expensive and exclusive private schools long have had staff clergy to act as chaplains and teach religion, most state schools keep the scripture period to the strict minimum; others just ignore it.

Schools up and down the land start their day with a hymn or two and a prayer but this — as Anglican writer Eric Russell has described it — is a formality. "to serve only as a necessary introduction to the more important business of the sports results, and the occasional appeal for a good home for three white mice no longer of use in the biology department."

"Grace before meals," the same writer has observed, "is also treated as formal hypocrisy and one pupil has been heard to offer a revised version of a familiar prayer: 'For what we are about to receive, may the Lord have mercy upon us.'"

Answer Quiz

North London parents, answering a recent quiz from the local advancement of State Education Association, came out strongly against religious instruction in schools.

"The majority thought religious instruction should be taken out of the school curriculum and left to the churches," said a report compiled from their replies. "Some did not wish their children to be taught views they do not hold themselves. Others feel that, in its present form, religious instruction is so inadequate that it would be better if it were not there."

Among the alternatives they suggested were instruction in comparative religion, civics and ethical teaching of a non-theological kind.

The British Humanist Association, which claims about 10,000 members, has entered the campaign against what it calls "religious indoctrination."

H.J. Blackham, director of the association, said at its recent annual meeting:

"It seems to me quite possible that there will be support for a renunciation of the Christian monopoly. It may be possible to form a common Christian-humanist front to campaign for an open educational approach and an end of Christian monopoly in this field."

However, a recent survey by the Institute of Christian Education disclosed strong majority support for continued religious teaching.

Some teachers have written to the papers to say that they consider the daily act of worship a farce and the teaching of scripture largely ineffective. Others argue it is wrong to teach a child a specific religious faith.

The Church of England paper, editorially bewailing the desperate shortage of Christian teachers in Britain, commented:

Interesting Case

"The U.S.A. has an interesting case. It could be called Christian in a far more real sense than Britain; yet it insists that no religion is taught in schools. This gives a big impetus to the local churches and their Bible classes. Would the same thing happen here if scripture teaching were taken out of the schools? It is very doubtful. Parents, who would shoulder most of the responsibility for seeing that their children hear the teaching of the faith have shown very little indication that they would collaborate effectively. And where would the teachers come from?"

Gas Station Policy to be Considered

Plan Commission Has View to Curtail Building Near Homes

Construction of service stations next to homes in residential areas, with view toward tightening the policy, was taken under study by the Appleton Plan Commission today.

Ald. Frederick Ziemann (6th) recently introduced resolutions in the common council asking that some action be taken to prohibit stations when they are to be erected next to homes.

Ziemann also suggested if gas stations are permitted in residential areas in the future, then special requirements should be put into force by the city concerning exterior lighting, and landscaping.

City Planner

The commission referred Ziemann's proposals to City Planner Walter Rasmussen for study and a report with recommendations.

Ziemann wants the council to have the final say on whether a service station can be built on property adjoining a home in a residential area.

The commission also:

- Approved the Oak Ridge Gardens plat in the Town of Menasha.

—Received letters from four property owners objecting to a proposed pedestrian walk from Meade Street to Kesting Court.

—Referred to the public works director a request for tentative approval of the Edward T. Reffe plot, consisting of 28 lots on the north side of Capitol Drive between Bluemound Drive and U.S. 21.

3-Year-Old 'Driver' Fails Test, Has Stitches to Prove It

David Shepard, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Shepard, 1610 Lehmann Lane, failed his first driving lesson Sunday and has the stitches to prove it.

Young David, seated in his father's car, moved the shift handles and started the car toward a tree about 25 feet down an incline in front of his home. Taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital, he was treated for a cut above his eye and released.

Mrs. Shepard said today that her son "was a little sensitive" about his experience and wasn't anxious to talk about it.

Appleton Pupils Busy Writing Slogans on Fire Prevention

Annual Contest Co-Sponsored by Downtown Kiwanis, City Firemen

Appleton pupils are working on entries for the fire prevention slogan contest, sponsored by the Appleton Downtown Kiwanis Club and the Appleton Fire Department as part of Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 4-10.

For the first time, youngsters have been assigned a specific slogan topic — exit drills in the home.

With this topic, the sponsors hope to interest parents in preparing an evacuation plan which their family can follow in an emergency.

In a fire, according to the killer in a fire, according to Fire Department Inspector Robert Ertl, is not the fire itself, but toxic gases. Most fire victims are the very young or the very old, he says.

The slogan contest is open to children in grades one through six of all Appleton public and parochial schools. Entries are to be in by 4 p.m. Sept. 25. Winners will be announced Oct. 1.

Find Another Washday, Say Rain Experts

Have you noticed your washdays being drowned out week after week?

Well, if you didn't you aren't doing your wash on Mondays. Out of the 16 Mondays since June 1, it has rained on 11, according to the records of the weather station at the Wisconsin Michigan Power Co.

Every Monday through the entire month of July had rain, except July 27, which had rain and hail. June Mondays were dry only on the 8th and 29th.

August had the driest Mondays of the summer, with no rain the 3, 17, or 31. But September has had neither of its Mondays dry, so far.

435 New Students Expected for Opening Convocation Sept. 23

Lawrence University opens its doors to new students Sept. 23, with more internal changes than ever in its 117-year history.

Most important change is in the institution's name. After more than a half-century as Lawrence College, it has resumed the name it bore for the first sixty years of its existence.

For the third successive year Lawrence has reached a record undergraduate enrollment with 1,263 full-time students and 16 special students. In 1962-63, the enrollment was 1,130, and last year it was 1,190.

About 435 students — a record for that category — will be at Lawrence this fall. Fifty of the newcomers formerly were enrolled at Milwaukee-Downer College for Women and have transferred to Lawrence with the merger of the two schools.

Transfers Held Down

The incoming class comes from 31 states and 10 foreign countries, about the same as last year. The freshman class numbers the same as in 1963, but transfers from institutions other than Downer were held to five.

A list of 33 new faculty members lowers the Lawrence faculty-student ratio from the 1 to 13.5 of last year to 1 to 11.3, the lowest in the Associated Colleges of the Midwest. Twenty of the new instructors are from the Downer faculty, the rest come from a variety of institutions.

Downer faculty members are Enid Bever, chemistry; Mrs. Elfride F. Brown, home economics, on leave; Gladys S. Calbeck, Spanish; Eugene Casselman, music; Thomas Dale, English; Dorothy Dart, French; Dorothea Hartney, religion; Mary Frances Heermans, occupational therapy; Mary F. Heinicke, physical education; Marjory Irvin, music; Collan B. Kneale, art; Mrs. Anne B. Lay, biology; Young Hee Lee, chemistry; David E. MacArthur, theater, on leave; Walter F. Peterson, history, on leave; E. Dane Purdo, art; Carl F. Riter, art, on leave; Ronald Tank, geology; Arthur Thrall, art, and Mrs. Helen N. Trader, home economics.

Officers Installed By Holy Name Society

KAUKAUNA — Installation of officers was held at a breakfast meeting of the Holy Cross Holy Name Society following a communion breakfast Sunday.

Assuming duties were Henry Vander Heyden, president; Robert Coonen, vice president; Leon Ashauer, treasurer; Ray Van Dyhoven, secretary; and Orville Vanevenhoven and John Demerath, marshalls.

During October of 1871, an unusually dry year, two disastrous fires struck almost simultaneously — the great Chicago fire, and a fire which burned out a large portion of Oconto, Ertl said. Fire Prevention Week is held each year during the week containing Oct. 9, the date of the Chicago fire. It started as a day set aside by the Fire Marshalls Association of America in 1911, and in 1922 was expanded to a full week set aside by presidential proclamation.

During Fire Prevention Week the Appleton Post Office will use a cancellation stamp provided last year by the fire department.

Human Rights Plan To be Considered

Possible Formation of Information Council to be Subject of Interested Individuals at Fox Valley Center

A meeting to discuss possible formation of a Fox Cities community council on human rights will be held at 2:30 p.m. Thursday in the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center.

Taking part will be interested individuals and representatives of public and private agencies with a direct or tangential interest in human rights.

The meeting was arranged by Dr. Gilbert James, center sociologist and a member of the Fox Valley urban team. Also speaking will be the Rev. Dr. G. Aubrey Young, director of the Governor's Commission on Human Rights, and Brother Agathangelus, a Negro Capuchin from St. Lawrence Seminary, Calvary.

Informal Discussion

The purpose of the meeting, Dr. James said, is an informal discussion of the need for an overall community council to keep everyone informed of what is being done in the area of human rights. Such a council could provide a means of communication among various groups on civic action in the community, he said.

If a community council is formed, Dr. James said, it probably would be similar to the United Community Services agency forum, in which representatives of public and private social service and welfare agencies meet regularly to discuss topics of interest in their field.

The proposed community council would not be set up to take sides, Dr. James emphasized, but would provide some sort of forum so that no one would act in ignorance of what others are doing.

Public Scrutiny

"It is not an effort to do specific things, but to talk about how to keep everyone informed of what is going on," he said. "Action of any of these groups must be public or this makes for rumors. This is an area where we need the full light of public scrutiny."

The meeting is planned for representatives of both private and public agencies, such as churches, welfare departments and chambers of commerce, and for anyone who has an interest in the whole matter of human rights, he said.

Dr. James, Dr. Young and Brother Agathangelus will give a panel discussion on "The Problems in the Integration of an All-White Community" at 8:15 p.m. Thursday at the meeting of the St. Pius X Home-School Association in St. Pius X School. The meeting is open to the public.

Yom Kippur Fasting To Begin Tuesday as End of High Holy Days

Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, will be observed by Jews in Appleton and throughout the world from sunset Tuesday until sunset Wednesday.

The observance of one of the most solemn days of the Jewish religious calendar climaxes the 10-day penitential period called the High Holidays. The period began at sunset Sept. 6 with Rosh Hashanah, the start of the new year 5725 according to the ancient Jewish calendar.

All-day worship services are held in synagogues on Yom Kippur, and many worshippers add to the solemnity of the day by fasting.

Prayers of Seeking

During Yom Kippur services, worshippers seek the spirit of penitence and an attitude of forgiveness toward those who have done them harm. Prayers and sermons call upon man to use his capacities to overcome personal error and remold the coming year through self-improvement and better understanding of family and neighbors. The prayers include supplications for elimination of poverty, hunger and prejudice and attainment of world peace.

Yom Kippur begins with the chanting of the Kol Nidre (Hebrew for "all vows"), one of the most celebrated of liturgical melodies, at sundown Tuesday. The Kol Nidre is a musical prayer beseeching divine mercy for rash conduct during the last year.

The Day of Atonement and the High Holidays will end at sundown Wednesday with the final sounding of the shofar, the ram's horn, which had started the penitential period on Rosh Hashanah.

Yom Kippur is observed for one day by all three branches of Judaism, Orthodox, Conservative and Reform.

Beth Israel Synagogue

Yom Kippur services at Beth Israel Synagogue, Appleton, will be at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday and from 8 a.m. until after sunset Wednesday. Rabbi Israel Lehenhaus will be cantor for the services.

Moses Montefiore Synagogue will have the chanting of the Kol Nidre in Hebrew and English at 7 p.m. Tuesday, with Dr. Theodore Kohn as cantor. Rabbi Gilbert Silverstein will give the sermon and conduct English services following the Kol Nidre. Services Wednesday will include the Hebrew morning service at 8:30 a.m., a sermon at 11:10 a.m., Yizkor (memorial service) at 11:30 a.m., English services at 11:45 a.m., the Musaf service in Hebrew and English at 12:30 p.m., Mincha at 5 p.m. and Niela, the concluding service, at 8:15 p.m. Zion Temple Congregation will hold Yom Kippur services in Harper Hall of the Lawrence University Music-Drama Center. The Kol Nidre will be at 8 p.m. Tuesday, followed by a sermon by Rabbi Simon Cohen, Cincinnati, Ohio. Services Wednesday will include the morning service and sermon at 10 a.m., the afternoon service at 2 p.m., the Yizkor (memorial service) at 4 p.m. and the concluding service at 5 p.m.

The new headquarters will take the place of the overcrowded and antiquated building on Highland Blvd., Milwaukee, into which LWS moved 13 years ago. Since then the volume of services rendered by the agency has tripled, and no additional building has been done.

Better Facilities

The new building, when completed, will provide better and more effective treatment facilities for each individual served. It will include interviewing rooms, conference room for large gatherings, space for a consultant psychiatrist and student-interning chaplains, training areas for social work students.

The building, which will also house a small chapel and modern efficient offices for the staff, has been designed so as to allow the LWS to expand its vital work in the care of unwed mothers, adoption, care and treatment of emotionally disturbed children, and its many other social services.

Last year Lutheran Welfare Services served more than 1,700 people, and another 76,000 sick and infirm people were visited under the chaplaincy program.

Truck Driver Tells His Version Of Fatal Accident in Bonduel

SHAWANO (AP)—"I am not running; I have no reason to," Ivan Mueller said Friday when interviewed by newsmen at the Shawano County jail.

The husky 40-year-old livestock hauler has been kept in the jail, under extra security precautions on a charge of homicide by reckless conduct. The charge grew out of the deaths of two members of the National Farmers Organization who were run over by Mueller's truck in Bonduel Wednesday. The men were part of a large group demonstrating against the delivery of livestock to the Equity sales yard.

"I'm not ashamed to face any one of them," Mueller said. "Many of the people in that crowd were friends of mine. I went to school with some."

News Conference

The news conference was arranged by his attorney, Bernard Berk of Green Bay, who was not present but had told newsmen "ask him anything you like."

Speaking in a calm manner, Mueller detailed his activities of Wednesday from the time he left home until the NFO pickets were killed. His family has since been moved from their home as a protection measure.

He said he left home accompanied by five NFO members, two riding in his truck and three in a private truck following. He stopped at five different farms to pick up livestock. NFO members with him persuaded two farmers to withhold their stock but the other three loaded their animals.

Give Service

"Under my Public Service Commission contract I have to give service if a farmer wants me to haul," Mueller said. "He said he parted on friendly terms with his NFO companions and drove to Bonduel."

"I didn't anticipate seeing what I saw," Mueller said. "There were cars all over the highway and a big crowd at the Equity gate, so big I misjudged where the gate was and stopped at the wrong place on the highway. If I had known it was going to be like that, I wouldn't have taken my truck out that morning."

He said a number of NFO members were friends and distant relatives of his. "I told them a farmer has a right to ship if he wants to and I have a contract to haul," he said. He also said he had been threatened by phone shortly after the NFO withholding action began some weeks ago.

Armed Himself

In answer to questions Mueller said he is currently an active deputy sheriff and Sheriff Carl Krueger had advised him to arm himself and have a witness in the truck with him on making his rounds.

He said his truck had struck the one in front of it at the yard and he was not aware that the truck had run over two men—Howard Falk, 64, of Bonduel, and Melvin Cummings, 44, of Birnamwood.

Mueller said the fact that he had a .38 caliber pistol, which he had bought from a former sheriff, saved his life when surrounded by demonstrators after he entered the sales yard.

When demonstrators started rocking his truck, Mueller said, his foot almost slipped from the clutch and he put the vehicle into neutral gear. Later, he said, when he backed up, the rocking stopped.

Mueller said he had no particular strong conviction about getting his load into the yard but moved the truck ahead in dual load gear "as slow as the truck could go" to prevent the pickets from turning it over.

"The crowd parted when I moved ahead," Mueller said, "a deputy waved me in and I drove on, never realizing I had run over the men."

Even after the demonstrators streamed after him, screaming "murder," Mueller said, "I still thought it was some kind of joke. It wasn't until I parked and Walter Bonasinski, a deputy, said I had run over two men that I really believed it had happened."

Mueller said he had not asked for help from any officers present. "If I had opened the door or rolled down a window I wouldn't be here now. When they started rocking the truck I thought my life was in danger and I felt that way all the time they were throwing stones and screaming about murder."

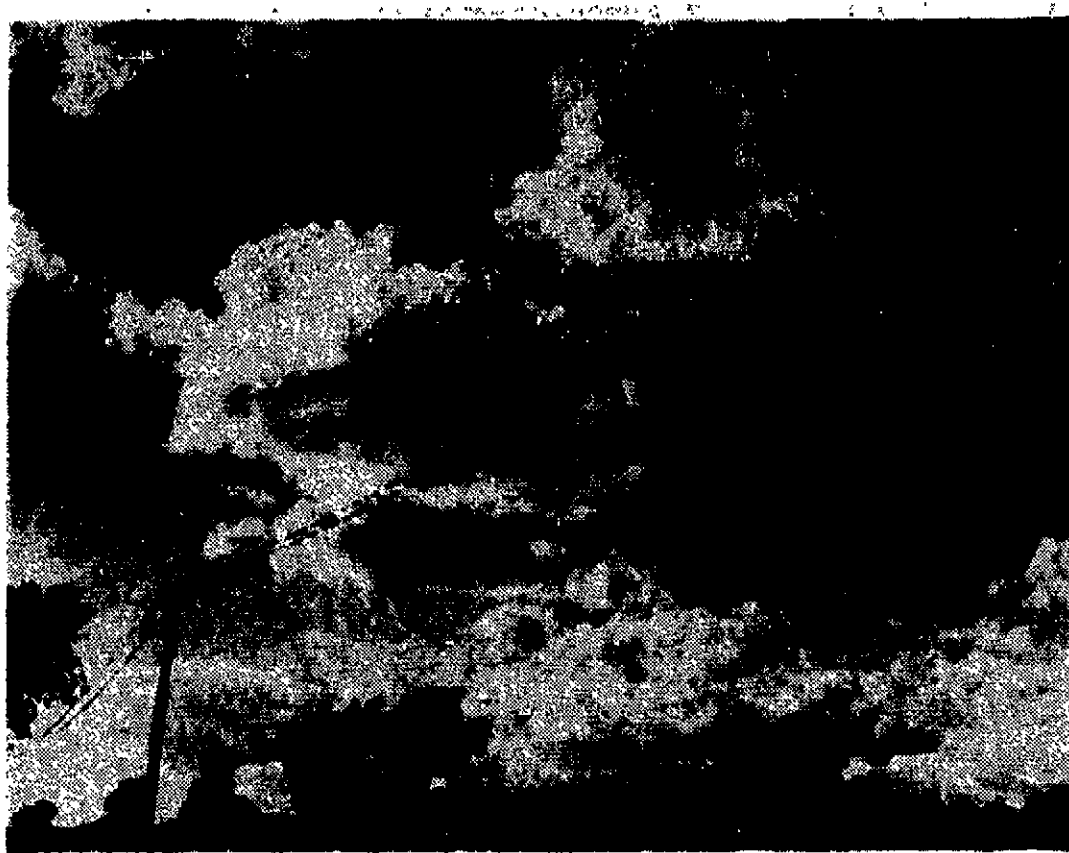

But they seemed to sort of back away when they saw the gun and I think the gun saved my life."

The Shawano County jail has extra guards now and doors are double locked.

New Gas War Breaks Out In Menasha

MENASHA — Auto service station operators today were launched into a full-scale gasoline price war for the third time this year. Prices already have dropped to the low mark of the year.

The second gasoline price war of the year ended approximately 10 days ago. However, prices at some stations began to tumble Friday of last week and within a 24 hour period reached bottom at 24.9 cents for cutrate gasoline and 28.9 cents for premium regular gasoline.

Nearly all stations had raised prices following the reaching of 24.9 cents last week.

One reason for the resumption of the war may have been a similar one in Appleton. Most dealers here blame the wars on Appleton in the first place, although premium dealers accuse the cut-rate dealers of starting the war.

Police Ready To Deal With NFO Activity

3 Regional Meetings Staged in State to Prepare for Trouble

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wisconsin law enforcement officers prepared today to deal with stepped up activity in the National Farmers Organization's livestock holding action thus far marked by frequent outbursts of violence.

Even as sheriffs and district attorneys were briefed Sunday at three regional meetings called by Gov. John W. Reynolds, there came reports of the dynamiting of two livestock stations owned by the Oscar Mayer Co., of Madison. There was no indication that the incident was linked with the NFO.

The explosions at Abbotsford and Medford early Sunday wrecked expensive scales but caused no injuries.

Plants Picketed Both plants have been picketed from time to time since the NFO began its holding action Aug. 19 in an effort to force up the price paid the producer for cattle and hogs.

The meetings of local law enforcement officers, held at Green Bay, Eau Claire and Madison, were called by the governor after his meeting with NFO president Oren Lee Staley following the death of two demonstrators run over by a truck at the livestock yards at Bonduel.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Walter Cole, heading a task force of state officials flying to the three meetings, warned sheriffs to brace for a rough week.

'Guerrilla Warfare' "Next week may be a strain on all of us," Cole said. "Staley said next week he would be down to the 'hard core' in his stock holding action."

"This is guerrilla warfare," declared Cole. "This is shooting trucks. This is killing calves. This is debris on the highway. That is why this is a local enforcement problem."

Other state officials urged stiffer law enforcement. They said Staley and others of the NFO leaders had promised to cooperate with local authorities in controlling their members.

At the Eau Claire meeting, Sheriff Lee Arntz of Chippewa County, took issue with the promise of cooperation.

Attends Funerals "These boys in bib overalls don't care what Staley says," said Arntz. "They tell us they are acting on their own for a cause."

Arntz said he looked for an

Honor Farm Escapee Caught Near Black Creek

A walkaway from the Oneida honor farm of the Wisconsin State Reformatory was held captive by workers in a labor camp early this morning near Black Creek and turned over to Outagamie County sheriff authorities.

Authorities said Donald Erickson, 21, stopped at the labor camp near Black Creek to ask directions. The camp is on State 54 one mile east of Black Creek.

Workers there were suspicious of Erickson and had been informed of a possible escapee from the reformatory by county police earlier.

The man did not resist when authorities arrived at the work camp to take him into custody. Sheriff Lt. Jack Frenz is questioning the man today before turning him over to reformatory officials.

Tipsy Driver Pleads Guilty

Menasha Man Fined $200 or 60 Days in Jail in Winnebago

OSHKOSH — Gerald Brunette, 37, 405 Mayer St., Menasha, today admitted driving while under the influence of intoxicants and driving after his license had been revoked.

Winnebago County Judge James Sitter fined Brunette $200 or 60 days in jail for operating after revocation of his license.

Brunette was arrested by Winnebago County Police after an accident on State 114 and Brighton Beach Road in the Town of Menasha at 12:28 a.m. Sunday when the car driven by Brunette struck the rear of a car driven by William B. Quella, 21, 621 Tayco St., Menasha.

Nelson Skendore, 25, 90% Abbey Ave., Menasha, a passenger in the Brunette car, received a forehead laceration and was advised to receive medical attention.

Merle Teeple, 200 Riverview Court, Appleton, was fined $25 and costs today by Judge Sitter after he pleaded no contest to a charge of allowing Brunette to drive his car. Teeple said he did not know Brunette did not have a license.

Brunette tested .21 on the breathalyzer. A reading of .15 is considered evidence of intoxication.

Rites Held for NFO Man Who Died at Bonduel

Oren Lee Staley, National President, Among Mourners

Post-Crescent News Service

BONDUEL — About 250 to 300 persons, including about 150 National Farmers Organization (NFO) members and their wives, crowded St. Paul Lutheran Church here Sunday for funeral services for Howard Falk, 64, one of two NFO pickets run over by a loaded cattle truck during a demonstration at Equity Cooperative stockyards Wednesday morning.

There was no funeral cortege. The body was taken to the Zastrow Funeral Home to be transferred to Milwaukee for burial today.

One uniformed officer was on the scene, Capt. Edward Bahr of the Shawano County Traffic patrol, although a State Patrol car was at a main highway intersection.

Sheriff Carl Krueger spent some time discussing the Wednesday incident with several NFO members.

Among persons attending the funeral was Oren Lee Staley, national president of the NFO.

NFO Under Control One of the NFO members said the safest place for Ivan Mueller, 39, of Cecil, driver of the truck which ran over the two demonstrators, would be in the basement of one of the NFO member's homes, if he were released from the Shawano County jail where he is being held.

He asserted that NFO members were under control, but "somebody else" might do harm to Mueller to discredit the NFO movement. He did not disclose who the "somebody else" might be.

Another man who declined to tell his story to the sheriff said he had been under the truck, falling behind the rear wheels, and he saw the two victims run over.

When questioned he said he believed the men were dead or badly injured before the rear wheels passed over them.

300 Youths Compete At Brown County Show

Post-Crescent News Service

Nearly 300 farm youths are competing for honors and cash at the Brown County fairgrounds this week.

Members of 4-H clubs and the Future Farmers of America, they are participating in the 20th anniversary Northeastern Wisconsin Junior Livestock Exposition. They will show close to 600 head of steers, lambs and barrows.

Details of entering and weighing the animals were completed this afternoon. Tuesday will bring the judging, and Wednesday the auction sale.

Ernest Ehrbar, Brown County agricultural agent, is the exposition chairman.

'No Better Quality' "Some shows have been a little bigger in numbers, but it seems a safe bet that none have been better for quality," Ehrbar said this morning.

"These boys and girls have done outstanding work in feeding and managing their animals," he added. "It reflects the growing importance of meat production in this area, and the increasing attention paid to quality."

Grand and reserve champions will be named in the three general divisions Tuesday. There also will be breed championships, as well as placements by classes.

Roger Biddick, a livestock breeder at Livingston, will judge the steers. The other judges, all from the University of Wisconsin, include R. H. Grummer, barrows; Dick Vilstrup, lambs, and E. J. Briskey, carcasses in the quality meat contest.

Wednesday will mean profit, loss or break even for the youths. All of the animals will be sold at auction, starting at 9 a.m.

Serious Business "These meat projects are serious business," Ehrbar pointed out. "They keep careful records on feeding, labor and other expense, and their aim is to show a profit."

He pointed out that some of the exhibitors apply the money they make toward their education. Others invest the cash in feeders or breeding stock to improve their livestock projects.

The sale of the grand and reserve champions is scheduled for Wednesday noon.

Arrangements have been made for public participation in the auction. Animals may be purchased for the home freezer, or may be sold to any of the packing firms represented at the show at the current market price.

The annual cattlemen's banquet, an event to boost public interest in the auction, is scheduled for 6 p.m. today at the Downtowner Motel. It is sponsored by the Agriculture Committee of the Green Bay Chamber of Commerce.

Fifteen counties are represented at the show. They include Brown, Calumet, Door, Fond du Lac, Green Lake, Kewaunee, Lincoln, Manitowoc, Marinette, Oconto, Outagamie, Ozaukee, Sheboygan, Waupaca and Winnebago.

The Northeastern event, and three others in the state, are held under the auspices of the Wisconsin Livestock Breeders Association. placing Mrs. Frank H. Bennett, who has retired.

Largest addition to the physical plant of the university is the $1.9 million Casper E. Youngchild Hall of Science, which will be ready for occupancy when students arrive. The current remodeling of Stephenson Hall of Science, however, is behind schedule and will not be completed until the end of October. The principal inconvenience will be for the geology laboratory which will be housed elsewhere temporarily.

Several new residences, named for Downer and Lawrence presidents, have been added for women's housing. Residences are Sabin House, 228 N. Park Ave.; Raymond House, 122 N.

Union St.; and Briggs House, 714 E. Alton St.

A central boxoffice for tickets to all Lawrence cultural events will be established Oct. 5 in the Music-Drama Center. It will be staffed from 12 to 6 p.m. weekdays and until performance time on those days. When the event is held in Memorial Chapel, the boxoffice will be shifted to that building at 6 p.m.

Lawrence convocations will be exiled temporarily from Memorial Chapel, which is still undergoing extensive remodeling, but a November reoccupancy is planned. The Sept. 29th matriculation day ceremony and the Oct. 8 dedication of Youngchild Hall of Science will be held in First Methodist Church.

Registrar Dorothy H. Draheim said several courses are experiencing particularly heavy enrollment. Last year the large classes were history and economics, but this year it is psychology and English.

When the projections were made for Youngchild Hall of Science, it was estimated psychology would have a maximum of 70 major students. Before the first group moves into the building, that total has been reached.

Bladder Inflammation Cause Very Complex

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please discuss cystitis, which I understand is a urinary tract infection. Do only women suffer from this? Does it often occur during pregnancy. When it occurs in women who are not pregnant, what is general cause? Does it lie dormant in men, and they act as hosts? Does frequency of sexual intercourse affect the incidence in certain individuals? — C.W.M.

More exactly, cystitis is inflammation of one particular part of the urinary tract, the bladder.

It is more common in women, but men can have bladder infections, too. A contributing factor in men is enlarged prostate, since this interferes with emptying of the bladder, thereby helping infections to start.

Anatomical structure seems to be important in making cystitis more common in women. The distortion and pressures of pregnancy can interfere with proper emptying of the bladder; hence more risk of infection. Sagging of the bladder, as an aftermath of childbirth, can be a factor. Or there may be ascending infections from outside sources. The infection works its way upward to the bladder. In this as well as with infections from interior sources, stricture (a narrowing) of the urethra, or outlet from the bladder, can be responsible. And these strictures are not uncommon in women.

Frequency of sexual intercourse is part of the cause in some cases — often in brides. Is it because they are coming into intimate contact with a strain of some ordinary germ to which they have not developed an immunity or resistance? Maybe. But the ways of germs are still too complex to let us say positively that this or that is "the reason." I'm devoted to trying to simplify matters of health, but I think we are best off if we admit that there are some things which don't permit oversimplification.

And that leads me to the question of whether men are "hosts" to the infection — or infections, since the inflammation, or cystitis, need not always be from the same type.

It is obvious, from the foregoing that men as well as women may harbor such infections. They may pass the germs on to someone else. All the same, I think there is sufficient evidence that as a rule men are not the hosts or "carriers" of these infections.

How many strains of germs may be involved is hard to say; maybe several, maybe more. But we do know this. In the normal course of human life, we all are constantly encountering, and usually defeating, attacks by germs. Men may, for a time, harbor a germ and, until their bodies have subjugated it, be "carriers." But so can women. Or the germs may come from some such thing as extraction of an abscessed tooth, or other focal infection.

Tracing the exact source may be impossible, but after seeing a good many cases, as most doctors have, we can arrive at the sort of generalizations that I've offered.

Dear Dr. Molner: Are all black or dark moles malignant? Is removal done by a plastic surgeon? — G.T.

No, but they are more likely to be malignant than lighter colored moles. If on the face, you might want a plastic surgeon to remove them, but dermatologists and general physicians remove them, too.

Note to Mrs. M.M.: Anyone who insists on drinking, especially heavy drinking, after removal of part of the stomach for ulcers, is asking for further trouble. Ulcers can and do recur following surgery unless the patient takes reasonable precautions.

How to get rid of leg cramps and foot pains? The answer may be simple. Write to Dr. Molner in care of Appleton Post-Crescent for a copy of the booklet, "How To Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains," enclosing a long, self-addressed stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all mail from his readers, but because of the great volume received daily he is unable to answer individual letters. Dr. Molner uses readers' letters in his column whenever possible.

Dora No Longer Seen as Threat

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Onetime Hurricane Dora, now a wet and windy tropical storm, sped northeastward into the Atlantic today, her savage assault on the United States apparently at an end.

Barring an abrupt change of course, the Weather Bureau said, Dora no longer threatened any land area even though she might, over the water, regain her hurricane punch.

In an almost week-long meandering journey through Florida and Georgia and up the coasts of North Carolina and Virginia's tidewater, Dora left at least seven persons dead and property damage reckoned at many millions of dollars.

Temperatures Will be Warmer in the Plains states and on the middle Atlantic Coast. Little temperature change is expected elsewhere. Rain is forecast in much of the east. (AP Wirephoto)

NFO Withholding Has Affected Market Little

Actions Indicate Existence of Conditions Forboding a Change

BY CHAD SKAGGS
DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — The National Farmers Organization livestock holding action can be compared with a huge rain cloud. While it has produced little economic effect so far, its very existence is a symptom of conditions that forbode a change.

It has been accompanied by scattered violence, although few of the deliberate incidents have been linked to NFO members and none to the organization. Farmers, farm leaders and government officials agree that something must be done to change the situation in which the farmer is paying more for what he buys while getting less for what he sells.

Doubt Expressed
Many farmers, however, express doubt that the change can be accomplished by a farmers' boycott of markets — a tactic the NFO has pressed in 23 states since Aug. 20.

NFO President Oren Lee Staley continues to exhibit confidence. "You don't judge a holding action on day-to-day receipts," he told The Associated Press.

"You judge the cumulative effect. We have already cut deeply into the meat supply in storage. Now farmers are in the position of being able to really tighten the holding action down, because most of the production that was in the hands of captive

Boycott Hits Largest U.S. School System

No Count of White Children Staying Home in Protest of Racial Integration by Bus

NEW YORK (AP) — A boycott struck New York City schools today as the nation's largest public school system began a new term.

Exactly how many white children stayed home in protest of a school board token program of racial integration by bus would not be learned until hours after the opening bells rang. A spot survey in Manhattan and the Bronx indicated minimal interference.

The boycott, to last two days, was called jointly by the Parents and Taxpayers Coordinating Council and the Joint Council for Better Education. It was opposed by school administrators and many civic organizations.

Bus Program

The busing program involved eight schools — in Brooklyn and Queens — but white parents with picket signs appeared outside some schools elsewhere in the city.

Goldwater Traveling Into South

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater marches his Republican campaign for the White House into the traditionally Democratic South Tuesday.

The Arizona senator — who has declared that "no Republican can do anything against Johnson without the support of the South" — sets out to convert the old Confederacy with appearances in eight Southern states.

The second week of his presidential campaign is anything but the first, Goldwater will swing freely and hard at President Johnson and pump the voters' hands in a style that at first surprised even his closest admirers.

Enthusiastic Crowd

Goldwater played to his big crowds in Los Angeles, Seattle, Wash., Boise, Idaho, and Minneapolis, Minn., last week during the opening chapter of his race for the presidency.

The sharpest charges came in the prepared speeches he delivered at Seattle and Minneapolis, his major promise — a five-year, 25 per cent tax cut, in a speech before more than 53,000 people in Los Angeles.

Goldwater stressed these charges:

—That the Democrats have timed foreign crises to make political hay at home, and may do it again. "Americans must be prepared, under such an administration to be faced by crisis of some sort just before an election," he told an overflow crowd in Seattle.

Dangerous Powers

—That dangerous powers are in the hand of the government — and particularly the White House. In Boise, Goldwater said Johnson has "unholy power never envisioned by the Constitution."

—That lawlessness is mounting, particularly in what Goldwater calls the "boss-controlled" Democratic cities of the East.

Humphrey Returns to Midwest

Warns His Party Not to Succumb To Overconfidence

BY HARRY KELLY

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey steered his Johnson-Humphrey campaign back into the Midwest today, warning Democrats not to be so sure of victory they forget Harry S. Truman's upset triumph in 1948.

Pressing his barnstorming attack on Sen. Barry Goldwater, Humphrey declared: "It is a depressing thought, but the temporary spokesman for the Republican party could be — despite himself — the president of the United States."

"But only if we let him," the Democratic vice-presidential nominee added in remarks prepared for a downtown street rally.

Polls Favorable

Democrats have been buoyed by polls forecasting a November victory. But, Humphrey recalled, "Truman went to bed on election night — by verdict of every public opinion poll and certain well-known commentators — a rejected and defeated man."

Democrats, he said, should take Truman's 1948 victory as a "solemn warning never to let ourselves fall victim to complacency."

Campaigning in New Mexico Sunday Humphrey charged that Goldwater was "playing on the emotions of the American people" in the race issue.

Goldwater's Charge

He was asked at an Albuquerque news conference whether he thought Goldwater's repeated denunciations of lawlessness and demonstrations were attempts to inject the race issue into the campaign as an appeal to the so-called white backlash vote.

Humphrey replied: "I doubt I could draw any other conclusion than the fact that the senator from Arizona is equating the violence that takes place in certain cities with the race issue and the civil rights bill."

Small Family Party

Quints First Birthday Celebrated by Fischers

BY JIM BLY

ABERDEEN, S. D. (AP)—The Fischer quintuplets gather around the family dinner table today for a slice of tasty white cake in celebration of their first birthday party.

The cake, decorated with the names of Mary Ann, Mary Margaret, Mary Catherine, Mary Magdalene and James Andrew, was donated by a bakery, in fulfillment of a promise made when the quintuplets were born to Andrew and Mary Ann Fischer.

The party was scheduled to be a quiet family affair.

It wasn't that the city folk in this prairie city of some 23,000 population wouldn't have created a lavish party if the Fischers had desired it.

Protective Attitude

Aberdeen, proud of its famous family, has adopted a grandmotherly, protective attitude toward the Fischers and refuses to intrude in the family's private life.

Plans for a big celebration were quietly dropped because Mrs. Fischer has a special birthday present for her family. She is expecting another addition, which is reportedly due any time from a few days up to two weeks.

Mrs. and Mrs. Fischer went for a ride Sunday and visited their new home, which is being built on the southwest outskirts of Aberdeen. They plan to move into the 20-room house on the 800-acre farm later this fall. While the Fischer family celebrated the quintuplets' birthday within the confines of their split-level rented home business went on as usual.

Thousands of Chickens Drown In 18-Inch Rain

LIVE OAK, Fla. (AP) — Sheriff Duke McCallister of Milton County plans a huge chicken fry today.

Hurricane Dora dropped 18 inches of rain on this north Florida community, sending flood waters up to 10 feet in low-lying areas.

Glen Milton, a chicken farmer, reported that 14,000 of his chickens drowned. Another farmer, McCallister said, lost 6,000 chickens.

McCallister says he will douse the dead chickens with gasoline and set them afire. What is left, McCallister said, will be bulldozed into a hole and buried with lime.

Israel Warns Against Any Arab Aggression

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel's government says it will repel any aggression that may result from the plans endorsed last week by the Arab summit conference.

Leaders of 13 Arab states met in Alexandria and called for a buildup in Arab military strength to "face the threat of imperialism and Zionist defiance."

Turk Cypriot Leaders Demand That Greeks End Economic Blockade

U.N. Airlift of Emergency Rations To Kokkina Is Reported Inadequate

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Turkish Cypriot leaders today termed a U.N. airlift of supplies to Kokkina inadequate and demanded again that the Greek Cypriot government end its economic blockade of their areas.

U.N. helicopters delivered two tons of emergency rations to the northwest Cypriot village, to which the Turkish government had said its navy would convoy supplies under armed escort Tuesday.

Turkish Premier Ismet Inonu met Sunday night in Ankara with top officials, but there was no immediate indication whether Turkey intended to carry out its plan.

Turkey Warned

Greek Cypriot President Makarios warned Turkey that a navy convoy would be regarded as an aggressive act. Later he said Turkey could send supplies to regular ports — so long as no effort was made to break the blockade.

The new threat in the eight-month-old crisis was overshadowed in Athens by preparations for the marriage Friday of King Constantine to Danish Princess Anne-Marie. Diplomatic sources said Makarios had told Greek Premier George Pandreu he would take no new action without consulting the Greek government.

The U.N. peace force ferried complete. The tentative schedule:

Lynda Arrives At Athens for King's Wedding

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Lynda Bird Johnson, President Johnson's 20-year-old daughter, arrived today to represent her father at King Constantine's wedding on Friday.

With her were other members of the presidential delegation to the king's wedding to Princess Anne-Marie of Denmark: William G. Helis Jr., of New Orleans, La.; Cassandra Helis, 30, his daughter; U.S. chief of protocol Angier Biddle Duke and Mrs. Duke.

They brought President and Mrs. Johnson's wedding gift to the royal couple — a 24-inch silver bowl with the U.S. presidential seal.

Most People Classed As 'Economic Boobs'

BY SYLVIA PORTER

If you are a typical American, you have never taken a course in economics, and if you are a typical student, you probably never will.

If you are a typical adult, you are an "economic boob," in the blunt words of Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges. Despite the unceasing crusade of people like me against economic illiteracy in our land, Hodges' accusation remains unfortunately almost as true in 1964 as it was in 1944 or 1924 or 1904.

This month, though, the non-profit New York-based Joint Council on Economic Education is starting an encouraging offensive against this illiteracy via a program designed to introduce nearly a million children to the subject at school levels ranging down to kindergarten — and then to carry on from this beginning to education of children in schools everywhere.

Today only 15 per cent of all high school students and only 20 per cent of all college students study any economics at any time. Only 28 of the 134 largest school systems in the U. S. offer any economics courses, and only a handful make economics a required subject.

Usually, economics is not taught until the 12th grade — after most of today's school dropouts have left. Yet, as Dr. Moe L. Frankel, executive director of the JCEE emphasizes, "The dropout is the one who has the greatest need to know something about the subject. If he understands how he fits into today's world, he might not drop out at all."

There is simply no disputing the importance of knowledge of economics to all of us. While you may, luckily, fumble your way to some sound financial decisions for your family and your nation, this is no excuse whatsoever for ignorance about why goods and services cost what they do, what automation means to today's and tomorrow's employment market, how to use installment credit wisely, what role foreign trade plays in our prosperity, when a federal budget deficit can help make jobs and profits, etc., etc.

"Economics is one of the most exciting subjects in the world, touching virtually every aspect of our lives," says Frankel (words which are music to these ears). "But it always has been taught as a bitter pill which you just have to sit down and take, however distasteful."

What the Joint Council is launching is a $2.5 million, three-year project with the goal of teaching economics to school children in a way they understand and enjoy. The experimental program now includes 12 elementary and high schools across the nation, and eventually 30 schools will be participating.

With the help of yearly grants by the JCEE, the schools will explore new ways to teach economics to children. They will send teachers of social studies back to school to learn basic economics so the teachers can return to school to teach basic economics.

Some schools will employ resident economists who will devise and use teaching aids and techniques ranging from movies to fairy tales, from songs to field trips. An Elkhart, Indiana, pilot project has already demonstrated that economics can be successfully taught to first-graders through films, fairy tales, discussion of economics at the family level. These youngsters right now are way ahead of millions of other kids.

Other schools will start special banks to teach the children the meaning and operations of banking, and special investment programs to teach the youngsters the elementary rules of investing, the role corporations and profits play in our economy. At the early pre-teen and

"The techniques and courses will vary widely," says Frankel, "for we are trying to learn how to make economics not only palatable but also exciting and compelling. Once we learn this, we can relay the results to all schools."

A wonder of our economy, I've always thought, is that it is so great despite our ignorance of why and how it ticks. Imagine what heights we might achieve if we ever become an economically literate citizenry! (Copyright, 1964)

"Dad... can I have $20,000 for college?"

Free booklet tells how you can be sure you'll have the money to send your children to college!

In both public and private colleges, the costs of education have risen sharply in recent years. At an average private school, for example, the annual expense is about $3,000. By 1974 the cost will have soared to $5,220—and it will continue to rise about 5% each year.

These are the frightening figures facing today's parents. They are spelled out in detail in a timely new booklet written especially for New York Life by a nationally known authority on education.

He points out the increasing importance of education beyond high school. "Generally, the youngster who goes to college will gain faster job advancement, higher income and greater economic security than the youth who does not."

Planning is the key. This expert holds out the hope that "any qualified student can find a suitable school to go to"—and will if parents plan ahead realistically. He suggests that "the earlier you start, the easier and cheaper it is to accumulate the funds you need."

There are many ways available to finance a college education: long-term loans, installment loans, personal long-range savings, government bonds, stocks, life insurance and a variety of scholarships. The booklet tells you the comparative advantages of each.

Piggy Bank Protector Patch Makes It Shake Out Proof

BY CAPPY DICK
If you are like many other boys and girls and own a piggy bank, it is not news to you that you can shake your coins out of it.
But if you can shake coins out, so can other people.
For this reason you may want to prevent the removal of coins until you yourself decide they may be shaken from the bank.
You can accomplish this by attaching a patch of rubber to the bank as shown in Figure 2.
From an old, discarded inner tube cut an oval patch like that in Figure 1. Use it to cover the slot on the top of your piggy bank. Attach the patch to the bank with strong pottery mending glue.
When the glue has dried, cut a slit in the rubber patch, making it the same length and in the same position as the slot in the bank itself.
You will find you can push coins through the slit in the rubber and into the bank as before, but because of the patch, you won't be able to shake coins out until you decide to remove the patch and shake them out in the usual way.
If you wish, you can use poster paints or enamel to paint the patch the same color as the piggy bank.
To remove the patch, you will have to tug hard on it, especially if you have used a good quality of glue to attach it.

Movie 'On Waterfront'

Opening Program in UW Fine Arts Series

Programs include Films, Guest Artists, Ionesco Drama, Players' Moliere Farce

The classic American movie "On the Waterfront," starring Marlon Brando and Eva Marie Saint, opens the fine arts program for the first semester at the University of Wisconsin-Fox Valley Center. All Center fine arts programs are open to the public and will be held in the fine arts room of the Midway Road school.

This year's program includes three movies in the Great American Film Series; stage drama with a professional troupe presenting an Ionesco play and the Fine Arts Club Players giving another; a musical program by guest artists, and the annual Christmas music-drama presentation featuring the Fox Valley Center Chorus and the Players.

Brando, H. L. Zillmer, drama director and fine arts coordinator at the Center, said the series has been designed for variety and program balance in order to present something of interest to all segments of the Center's clientele.

"On the Waterfront" is scheduled for 1 p.m. and 8 p.m. showings Thursday, Sept. 24. This movie won eight Academy Awards, including the best actor of the year Oscar for Brando and the best supporting actress award for Miss Saint.

Danny Kaye's outstanding film "Me and the Colonel" will be shown Thursday, Oct. 15 and "The Golden Age of Comedy" Nov. 12 completes the movie trilogy for the semester. There will be two showings for all the Thursday movies.

Based on Play The Kaye movie, in which Curt Jurgens also stars, has been called one of the funniest films ever made by the comedian and it was judged one of the 10 best for 1938. It is based on the successful stage play "Jacobowsky and the Colonel" by Franz Werfel and S. N. Behrman.

"The Golden Age of Comedy" is a look backward at the antics and gags of oldtime comedy greats, including the Keystone Cops, Will Rogers, Carole Lombard, Jean Harlow, Laurel and Hardy.

A professional troupe from the Tyrone Guthrie Theatre of Minneapolis and the University of Minnesota will launch the live dramatic part of the series. They will present Eugene Ionesco's "The Killer," Friday, Oct. 2. Curtain time is 8 p.m.

Dr. Zillmer calls this play one of the outstanding dramatic studies in the terrors of humor. It is avant garde theater.

"An Evening in Song" is a concert repeat as far as the artists are concerned. They are singers Karl Brock and Bettina Bjorksten, who appeared at the Center two years ago. Brock recently returned from his third concert tour of Europe. This musical program is scheduled for Tuesday night, Nov. 10.

The Fine Arts Club Players will give their first public dramatic production Sunday Nov. 22 when they present Moliere's "The Doctor in Spite of Himself." The French comedy, a boisterous farce, will be given

Walker Boots 4 Field Goals In Lion Victory

San Francisco Falls, 26-17, Before 33,204

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Wayne Walker kicked the Detroit Lions past the San Francisco 49ers booting four field goals and two conversions as the Lions won the National Football League opener 26-17 Sunday.

The 225-pound former Idaho star placekicked three-pointers from 23, 16, 31 and 25 yards out. He added the conversions after two touchdowns by Nick Pietrosante who plunged over from the 3 and the 1.

Walker, who plays defensive linebacker as well as doing the kicking, became the first Detroit player ever to score four field goals in a game.

A Kezar Stadium crowd of 33,204 saw the 49ers lead at the end of the first quarter on a 64-yard touchdown pass from John Brodie to Bernie Casey. The Lions then scored 13 points in the second period, going into the lead to stay.

27-7 Margin The Lions built their margin to 27-7 before the 49ers rallied in the third with a 41-yard field goal by Tommy Davis and a 7-yard touchdown pass from Brodie to Casey.

Detroit's touchdowns capped drives of 47 and 74 yards. The first was primarily on running plays and the second featured a 39-yard pass from Milt Plum to Terry Barr.

Passes set up Walker's first three field goals. Three from Plum to Gail Cogdill gained 59 yards in the opening quarter drive. In the second Plum threw to Barr for 47 to the San Francisco 11. The home club held but Walker collected three points.

After Petrosante's first touchdown Plum hit Cogdill on a 43-yard gainer which again put the Lions in position for a field goal and 16-7 halftime average.

Walker's kicking overshadowed a record-setting performance by the 49ers' Tommy Davis. He kicked his 157th and 158th consecutive points after touchdown, bettering the NFL record of 156 which he had shared with George Blanda, formerly of the Chicago Bears.

Plum hit 15 of 34 passes for 234 yards while Brodie hit 15 of 33 for 179.

PITCHING — Jim Bunning, Philadelphia, scattered seven hits and won his 17th game against four defeats in the Phillies' 4-1, 10-inning victory over San Francisco.

Tittle Manhandled

Eagles Humble Giants; Gros Runs 59 Yards

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Eagles gave Y. A. Tittle one of the worst days in the brilliant quarterback's 15th year pro football career Sunday as they buried Tittle and his New York Giants 38-7 in the National Football League opener for both teams.

The Eagles' defensive line rolled over the Giants' forwards slammng Tittle on his back or rushing him so that the 38-year-old quarterback threw wildly. Tittle completed but 13 of 25 passes for 12 yards. He fumbled four times and lost 47 yards and had two intercepted.

Meanwhile, the Eagles, almost a unanimous choice for last place in the East, showed unexpected muscle on offense from the first play of the game when fullback Earl Gros slanted off right guard and romped 59 yards for a touchdown. Sam Baker booted the first of five conversions and the Eagles led 7-0.

Passes to Brown The Eagles in their first game under new head Coach Joe Kuharich and millionaire owner Jerry Wolman, made it 14-0 in the second period on a 10-play, 80-yard drive climaxed by an 8-yard pass from quarterback Norm Snead to halfback Tim Brown.

After Tittle tossed three passes good for a total of 76 yards, the last 17 to Aaron Thomas for a touchdown, the Eagles struck back for a 30-

Louis Characterizes Billy Conn as Best Boxer He Ever Faced

Joe Calls Dempsey Greatest Fighter Of All Time

BY JOE LOUIS

Jack Dempsey was the greatest fighter that ever lived. I always have thought so. I never saw Jack fight but I saw the movies of his fights with Gene Tunney and Jess Willard.

That Dempsey was a great fighter, a great puncher. He just kept coming at you all the time. Hype Igoe, the old sports writer, used to tell me I could have beaten Dempsey because I had a better jab and could keep my balance better. This is the kind of fight I would have liked to get paid for but not fought. We'd have made a lot of money.

Jack Blackburn, my old trainer, told me that Sam Langford

Old Primo moved real good for a guy who weighed 280 pounds. He could beat a lot of fighters around today. Right now he could be the champion.

Of the foreign fighters I fought I'd rate them Max Schmeling, Primo Carnera, and Paulino Uzcudum, a real tough guy. I hit Paulino so hard I knocked out one of his teeth and it stayed in my glove.

Another who really could take it was Tommy Farr, and he was in good shape. That Arturo Godoy from South America gave me trouble the first time because he stayed way down near the floor. The next time I got the rhythm and weaved when he did.

Sonny Best Today Most of those foreign fighters have trouble because they don't have any champions to work with and no good sparring partners.

Rocky Marciano is the best heavyweight we've had lately. I thought I could beat Rocky when I made my comeback because he was the kind of fighter you didn't have to go out looking for. But my legs wouldn't stand up. Rocky improved a lot after I fought him.

Sonny Liston is the best around today, no matter what they say about Cassius Clay. Ezzard Charles was better than people give him credit for. Only trouble. Ezzard was a good gym fighter but he didn't look so good in the ring. If he got a guy in trouble he didn't finish him.

Floyd Patterson was the same way, too kind to be a fighter. I think a fighter should be a little meaner. He did very well as champion and he's a real gentleman but I wouldn't say he was a great fighter. He just doesn't take a punch too good.

Ingemar Johansson had just one thing in his favor — he was a good puncher. If he didn't land that right hand he was just nothing.

And then there's Cassius Clay. He is a good boxer. He moves real good and everything. But he is not as good as he thinks he is. All I can say about Clay is he's a good boxer.

I just wish I was about 20 years old again. With all that closed circuit television money around, I'd sure like to fight Mr. Clay.

Vikings Surprise Baltimore As Mason and Brown Star

Vince Says Free-Kick Stipulation Has Been In Rules Long Time

Coach Terms Paul Hornung 'Quite an Athlete'

BY LEE REMMEL
Post-Crescent News Service
GREEN BAY — Victory, already being accepted with some nonchalance, was almost lost in the post-game shuffle Sunday afternoon — at least in one corner of sun-drenched city stadium.
Nearly 10 minutes had elapsed since the Packers had avenged recent indignities at the Chicago Bears' hands with a resounding 23-12 decision, when an eager press corps invaded Vince Lombardi's inner sanctum to shower him with questions.
Mightily intrigued with the strategy that had triggered returnee Paul Hornung's record-setting 52-yard field goal in the closing seconds of the first half, the scribes blurted, almost in unison, "What about that free kick? Was that in your plans?"
A Long Time
Obviously enjoying their puzzle, Lombardi smiled broadly and pointed out, "That's been in the rule book a long time."
Well, then, had the Packers emphasized this stratagem during the training season? "We always talk about it," Vince, still wearing that enigmatic smile, replied. "But the only time you can use it is in the last two or three seconds of the first half or the last few seconds of the game."
"Every training season, a league representative visits camp and explains, 'remember, after every fair catch (Vince thrust his right arm into the air, two fingers extended in imitation of the official) you are entitled to a free kick.'"
Had the Pack "worked on it" last week as a weapon for the Bears, a Chicago scribe wanted to know. Lombardi shook his head emphatically, declaring, "We've never worked on it in our lives."
"How far was it, by the way? Fifty-two yards? That's great, that's tremendous." He paused, then added with a grin, "I would say Mr. Hornung's quite an athlete."

Called From Bench
Had the play been called from the bench, he was asked. He nodded a vigorous affirmative, pointing out, "We call all place-kicks, all punts, all field goals. We told Wood (Willie) and Pitts (Elijah) to fair catch it."
"The chances of your seeing it in your lifetime or my seeing it in mine are nil," Lombardi noted.
The move had "faked out" the 40,000-odd Packer faithful, it was noted. "We almost faked ourselves out," Vince said dryly. "You saw the confusion."
Asked to assess Hornung's performance, Lombardi observed, "I've seen him play a lot of games — I wouldn't attempt to compare any of them, it's too difficult. But he played a great one today. He's quite an athlete."
He then elicited a collective chuckle from his audience by asserting, apropos of nothing in particular, "I've turned over a new leaf — I'm going to be very patient with the press."
Recalled to the subject at hand, another question, he said, "No, there was no special reason for playing Moore as much as I did in the second half. There was nothing wrong with Taylor. It's just that Moore is too good a back to be sitting on the bench."
The Packers had accumulated no new injuries in the course of victory, Vince revealed.

Minnesota Scores on 4 Long Drives

MINNEAPOLIS — St. Paul (AP) — Minnesota bottled up Johnny Unitas and Baltimore's passing attack except for two long bombs and rode the hard running of Bill Brown and Tommy Mason to a season-opening 34-24 victory over the Colts in the National Football League.
Unitas hit Lenny Moore on a 70-yard touchdown pass and connected with Jimmy Orr on another 70-yarder that set up a touchdown. Otherwise, he managed to complete only 11 of 26 passes and couldn't mount a sustained attack.
The Vikings crunched through the Colt defense for four long scoring marches, one in each quarter, and added two field goals by Fred Cox. The last of Cox's goals, from 44 yards, came with just over a minute remaining and iced the victory.
Drove 80 Yards
Minnesota drove 80 yards for scores in each of the third and fourth periods. Brown dove over from the one-foot line on one touchdown while Fran Tarkenton passed six yards to Paul Flatley for the other.
Baltimore had rallied from a 17-7 deficit on Unitas' 18-yard pass to Orr and Unitas' 70-yarder to Moore in the third period after the Vikings checked Unitas, except for one long pass to Orr, in the first half.
Minnesota struck for a touchdown the second time it had the ball, moving 70 yards in six plays. Mason exploded up the middle with the Colt defense bunched to blitz and sprinted 48 yards for the score midway through the first period.
The Colts tied it before the first quarter ended. Pinned in a hole with third down and 17 to MILWAUKEE (AP) — What kind of day was it for the Braves at County Stadium Sunday?

Not good!
And what kind of day was it for Warren Spahn?
Again, not good!
The Braves took a six-game winning streak into their final encounter of the season with the Cincinnati Reds.
Bang, went the winning streak as the Redlegs pounded out 14 hits for a 9-2 victory.
Out of the bullpen came Spahn for his first start in many days.
Boom, went his comeback hopes as the Reds bombed him for four runs in the third and tagged him for his fifth straight loss and an almost unbelievable 6-13 record for the season. The 43-year-old lefthander hasn't won since July 9.
The Cincinnati victory closed out the season's series with the Braves all square, each having won nine.
Jay Real Tough
Tonight at County Stadium the Braves take on the St. Louis Cardinals, who trail the National League leading Phillies by six games but lead Cincinnati and Pittsburgh by one. Tony Cloninger, trying for his fifth straight victory and 17th of the year against 12 losses, takes the mound for the Braves. Ray Sadecki, (17-10) goes for the Cards.

EPHRAIM — Bob Below, Neenah Ridgeway golf professional tied Manuel de la Torre, Milwaukee Country Club, after the regulation 36-holes of the annual Cherryland Open tourney here Sunday with 136 totals, 4-under par.
Below lost to de la Torre's par four on the first sudden death playoff hole. Below posted rounds of 69-67 and de la Torre carded 65-71.
Neenah's Tom Hadley finished with 147 on 70-77 and Appleton's Chuck Bayer posted rounds of 74-76. Waupaca Pro Gib Kizer also posted 150 on 74-76.

Packers twice last year and stole their championship . . . and this is the first time anybody kicked the Bears out of first place in the Western division since the '62 season.
Hornung was making his first official league appearance since drawing a 1-year suspension, and he ignited the Packer offense—just as he did during their championship years of 1960-61-62.
Hornung scored 11 points, booted three field goals—one a rule-book 52-yarder, rushed 15 times for 77 yards, threw two passes and completed one for nine yards, and kicked off five times—twice into the end zone and once over the end line.
And all on an empty stomach . . . he couldn't eat the usual pre-game meal.
Hornung's kick tied the club distance mark set by Ted Fritsch against the old New York Yanks in Yankee stadium in 1950.
The Packers scored in every period and held a 7-0 edge at the end of the first quarter, 17-3 at the half, and 20-12 going into the final period.
Bart Starr passed for both Packer TDs. Max McGee made a sparkling catch of a 16-yard Starr pass for the first TD in the first quarter, climaxing a 12-play, 91-yard march. Tom Moore worked himself scot free and took a Starr pass for a 33-yard TD play in the second quarter.

5 Interceptions, 3 Fumbles Lead Way to NFL Upset

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Los Angeles Rams intercepted five passes and recovered three fumbles, whipping the Pittsburgh Steelers 26-14 in a National Football League game Sunday.
With their No. 1 quarterback Roman Gabriel out with a knee injury, the Rams were forced to entrust their offense to rookie Bill Munson, but the 22-year-old from Utah State found it rough going.
So an alert defense took over, turning four of the Steelers' miscues into scores.
The only offensive drive mustered by the Rams came in the third quarter. With some top-flight running by Ben Wilson and Dick Bass, the Rams marched 80 yards for a score. Munson hit Duane Allen on a 10-yard toss for the touchdown.
In the second quarter, Bruce Gossett kicked field goals of 11 and 39 yards and Wilson plunged a yard for a touchdown, all coming after two fumble recoveries and a pass interception. Lamar Lundy raced 14 yards with a pass interception in the third quarter.

It was launched on a free-kick situation (under a seldom-used rule) and traveled 52 yards just before the end of the first half of Sunday's game against the Bears in City Stadium. ## Paul Has 'Most Satisfying' Day, Commends Bears' Play

Ditka Declares Packers Are Better Offensively This Year

Post-Crescent News Service
GREEN BAY — A man totally at peace with the world, Paul Hornung lounged on the straight back chair in front of the locker room bearing the chalk-scratched "5" and inhaled deeply from an "old-fashioned" cigarette.
Surrounded by reporters, he studied the emerald green carpeting which adorns the Packers' dressing room floor as he answered the inevitable question.
"Yes, it has to be just about my most satisfying," the fabled golden boy, making his first formal National Football League appearance after sitting out a year's suspension, said quietly, almost humbly.
"Winning was the most important thing, but naturally, I wanted to have a good day coming back."
"I've had a little bit longer to wait for this one than the other boys," Hornung pointed out, adding with something akin to a sigh, "it was a long time in coming."
Did he feel he had had that "good day?"
"Yes, I do," was the considered but forthright reply, accompanied by a slow smile, from the man who had kicked three field goals, one of them an historic 52-yard drive and two extra points and spearheaded the Packers' ground game with 77 yards in 15 attempts, among other contributions. "You always feel real satisfied when you win, even if you don't have a good game."

The events leading to that king-sized field goal were as much a surprise to him as they were to everyone else, the unusually svelte (he's playing at 212 compared to 220 in 1962) Notre Dame alumnus confided.
"We never practiced the play," Hornung said. "I didn't even know what the heck we were doing. I hadn't been confronted with the rule since I've been in the league. Of course, the league explains it to us every year."
"Jerry Kramer said, 'Ask for a free kick right away.' So I said to the referee, 'If I make this, is it three points?' He said 'Yes' and then we were squared away," the all-purpose halfback explained.
In this particular moment of glory, Hornung found time to commend the enemy. "The Bears," he pointed out in their defense, "had a few injuries that hurt 'em. They had a couple of guys playing on guts alone."

Just a few feet away, bruising Ray Nitschke was not entirely happy with his performance, an opinion the battered Bruins might well share—for different reasons.
"I was a little too anxious when we were blitzing," Ray insisted. "I was giving it away."
"But they knew they were in

Rex Cawley Sets 400-Meter Mark

Burleson Nips O'Hara in '1,500'; Ryun, 17, Wins Olympic Berth

LOS ANGELES (AP) — This country's track and field athletes broke two world records, equalled another, matched an American mark, bettered the Olympic record in nine events and — as expected — stamped the United States the team to beat in Tokyo.

These were some of the highlights of the two-day final trials which ended Sunday in Memorial Coliseum before a crowd of 18,981.

Rex Cawley bettered the world mark in the 400-meter hurdles with 49.1, and Saturday Ralph Boston broke the listed record of 27 feet 3 3/4 inches by Russia's Igor Ter-Ovanesyan with a leap of 27 feet 4 1/4 inches.

Boston also had a leap of 27-10 1/4 but it was wind-aided.

Sprinter Bob Hayes, back in winning form after nursing a leg injury, equalled the American 100-meter mark at 10.1, and 30-year-old Mike Larrabee, a California school teacher, matched the world standard of 44.9 in the 400 meters.

Young Gerry Lindgren of Spokane, Wash., running the 10,000 meters for only the third time in his life, defeated America's best in the fastest time by an American this year, 29:02.0.

The 1,500-meter battle of sub-4-minute milers Sunday was won by Oregon's Dyrol Burleson in 3:41.2 as he defeated Chicago's Tom O'Hara for the ninth time in their 10-race series.

Ryun the Youngest

Jim Ryun, at 17 the youngest athlete in the trials, beat out Jim Grelle for the third spot in the 1,500 meters as both were timed in 3:41.9.

The 5,000-meter grind ended in a pre-agreed dead heat between the favored Bob Schul and 30-year-old Bill Dellinger, who ended a four-year retirement, this year to aim for the Olympic team. The time was 13:55.6.

As Dellinger successfully came back, little Jim Beatty's comeback ended in disappointment. He finished fifth.

Of the 69 athletes named for the 19 Olympic events, including two relay team members, no one made the roll in more than one event.

a ball game," he added with obvious satisfaction. "Think we were ready for this one. Last year we weren't ready and they were."

Nitschke's linebacking comrade, the exceedingly dapper Dan Currie, was highly amused over his fourth quarter interception of a Bill Wade pass. "I couldn't have gotten out of the way if I tried," he laughed. "He speared me. Those are the kind you just accept and don't say too much about."

It was suggested to Bart Starr that he had taken judicious advantage of the Bears' defensive injuries, but he demurred, asserting, "I couldn't tell the Bears were hurting on defense. I knew some of their regular boys were out of there but I don't think I consciously aimed at those spots."

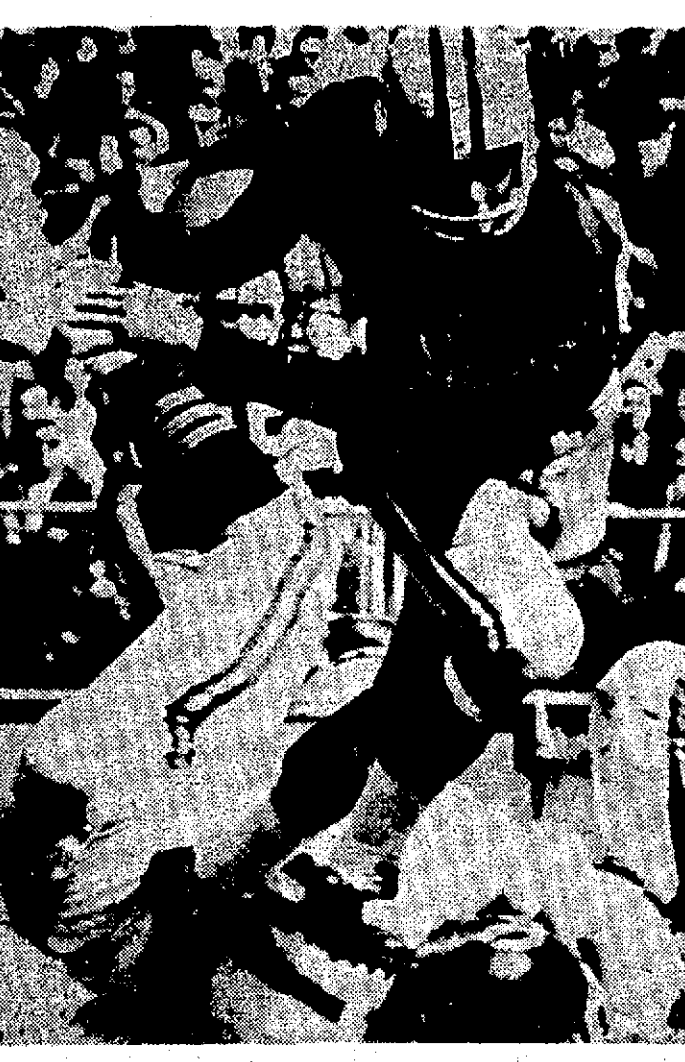

Starr, who held the ball on Hornung's lousy free kick, explained with a smile, "It was the first time I've ever been involved in one, but I was all for it."

"Coach Lombardi told me about it on the sidelines just as Willie Wood caught the ball. It was a big help—if we had tried an ordinary field goal, we'd have had to stand seven yards farther back, which is quite a ways (59 yards) even with the wind... it was a great kick."

Over in the Bears' somewhat subdued quarters, massive Mike Ditka still was lamenting the "bomb" that misfired in the third quarter. "Just one more step," he said, a little sadly, "and I'd have had it."

Turning to the Packers, he found them "a better ball club offensively this year." Then, perhaps fearful that he might slight the Bays' defenders, he added, "Of course, they're always good defensively. But they can be beat defensively."

To what does he attribute the offensive improvement? "I've got to say Hornung," Ditka replied without hesitation. "They didn't have Starr in that second game against us last year."

go at his own 3-yard line, Unita lofted a long aerial.

Orr took the ball away from either. He's a very smart man."

Linebacker Joe Fortunato, gingerly checking a hunk of tape over the bridge of his nose as he paused in front of the washroom mirror, was even more forthright.

"We played bad ball today," he said sourly. "They just beat us and that's it. We didn't play up to our capabilities."

He also tossed a parting bouquet to the Pack's "new" center, Bob Skoronski. "He played a good game," Fortunato declared. "He's going to do a good job."

tough against his old teammates Sunday, allowing but eight hits. The big righthander might have had a shutout but for a walk to Gene Oliver followed by Denis Menke's 17th homer with two in the sixth.

Spahn was nipped for an unearned run in the first. Pete Rose singled and Spahn pitched him off first but Menke dropped Oliver's throw and Rose was safe at second. A two-out double over Rico Carty's head by Frank Robinson drove him in.

The roof really fell in on the venerable southpaw in the third. Again it was Rose who started the trouble with a single. Tom Harper followed with his fourth homer. Vada Pinson singled and a wild pitch put him down to second. Robinson grounded out but Deron Johnson doubled to left for the third run of the inning and Leo Cardenas' single finished Spahn and brought in Bob Sadowski.

Hurls 2 Scoring Passes; Bills Crush Kansas City, 34 to 17

BY MIKE RATHET Associated Press Sports Writer

The American Football League has opened its fifth season with the emphasis on attendance, the spotlight on Buffalo and the big question mark still surrounding Billy Cannon.

The major development of the four-game program was the record crowd of 44,497 as the New York Jets made an artistic and financially successful debut in Shea Stadium by walloping Denver 30-6.

The turnout was more than twice as large as any other ever to see the Jets in New York, exceeded the crowds at all but two of the National League's seven openers and pulled the AFL to a record attendance of 118,412 for its opening program.

Elsewhere, Buffalo's Bills won an opener for the first time in their history by crushing Kansas City 34-17, the Boston Patriots edged Oakland 17-14 as Cannon played a secondary role for the Raiders and the defending champion San Diego Chargers defeated the Houston Oilers 27-21.

Bills' quarterback Jackie Kemp fired 17 and 10 yard scoring passes to Glenn Bass and hit El Dubeon with a six-yarder in the first quarter against the Chiefs while Tom Sestak ran an interception back 15 yards for a score and Pete Gogolak kicked two field goals and four extra points.

Bass, who was cut last year by the Bills after he was their No. 1 receiver in 1962, made good his return by pulling in five passes in all for 98 yards.

The Patriots, defending Eastern champions but losers of all five exhibition games, moved ahead to stay in the second half when Babe Parilli hit Tony Romeo with a 19-yard touchdown pass and shot a 72-yarder to Art Graham. Gino Cappelletti's 48-yard field goal provided the winning points.

Cannon, meanwhile, was used sparingly by his new Raiders teammates, running back three kickoff passes for 66 yards before getting in for three carries in the fourth quarter and gaining 25 yards.

Oakland's Clem Daniels, the league rushing champion, was held to minus one-yard in 14 tries by the rugged Patriots defense.

Veteran quarterback Tobin Rote pulled the Chargers out of danger in the second half against the Oilers, hitting Don Norton with a 19-yard TD pitch before winding up with a 27-yarder to Lance Alworth.

Houston quarterback George Blanda completed 29 passes, 13 to rookie Sid Blanks, who tied the league record for receptions. Blanks gained 131 yards on the passes and added another 53 yards rushing.

TOKYO — Katsutoshi Aoki, 116, Japan, outpointed Al Patterson, 117, Philippines, 12-1.

MONTREY, Mexico — Jesus Pineda, 161, Mexico, knocked out Appleton Salinas, Mexico, banlamweights, 8.

Hansgen, Pabst Team to Win Road America

Set Record En Route to Top Money

ELKHART LAKE, Wis. (AP) — A LeMans 250 Ferrari, co-driven by Walter Tansgen of Bedminster, N.J., and Augie Pabst of Milwaukee, won the eighth annual Road America 500 mile sports car race Sunday before a crowd of 38,000.

Hansgen, who was behind the wheel for 352 miles; and Pabst, who put in 148 miles, took home a $2,500 paycheck from the total purse of $10,000. They also had a new record to show for their efforts as they chalked up a winning speed of 87.660 m.p.h., beating the mark of 84.98 set in 1962 by Jim Hall and Hap Sharp of Midland, Tex.

Pabst, a Milwaukee auto dealer, started the race at the wheel of a Lola-Chevrolet coupe, but a flying stone punctured his oil tank and forced him out of the race after 30 laps. He shifted over to the Ferrari to share the driving chores with his teammate, Hansgen, who like Pabst, was piloting a car owned by John Mecomb of Houston, Tex.

Bunning, Phillies Post 4-1, 10-Inning Win Over Giants

Drysdale Wins 18th in 5-4 Wins Over Mets; Cards Romp

BY MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

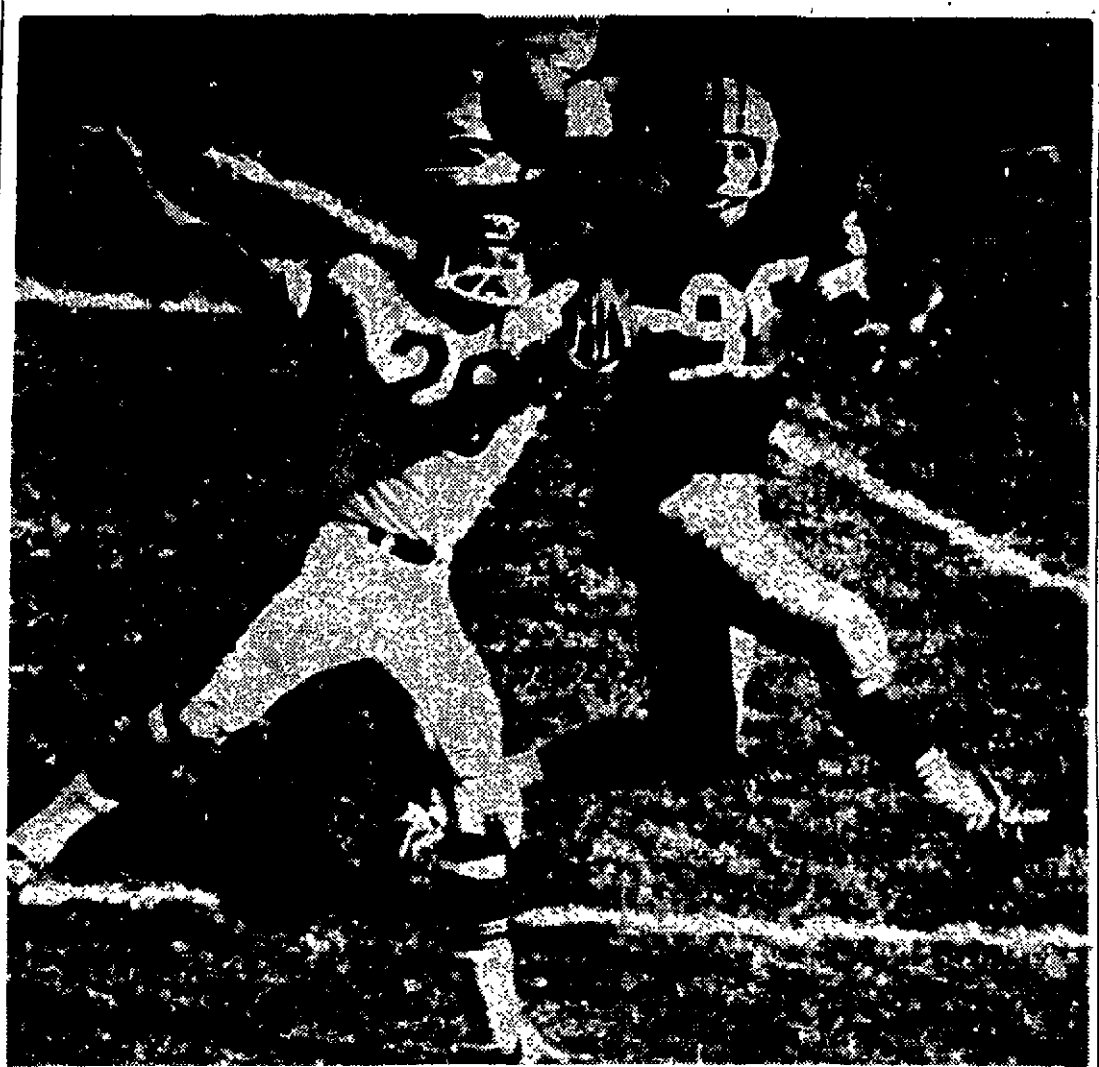

Jim Bunning, Philadelphia's ace right-hander, is three steps away from a rare pitching double that hasn't been accomplished in 40 years.

Bunning, who earlier this season pitched a perfect game, posted his 17th victory Sunday in the National League leaders' 4-1, 10-inning triumph over San Francisco and took another giant stride toward becoming a 20-game winner in each league.

Only nine pitchers in major league history ever have posted 20 victories in both the National and American leagues, among them Cy Young, Jack Chesbro and Joe McGinnity. Bunning, however, could become the first since Carl Mays in 1924.

Mays, a submarine specialist, won 20 games in the AL with Boston in 1917 and 1918 and with the New York Yankees in 1920 and 1921 before switching to the National League and becoming a 20-game winner with Cincinnati.

Bunning, who won 20 games with Detroit in 1957, likely will make four or five more starts in the Phillies' final 19 games. He checked the Giants on seven hits, bringing his record to 17-4

Packers Whip Bears In NFL Opener, 23-12

42-yard field goal in the first period; hit his 52-yarder with time left in the half; hit a 29-yard field goal in the third period and a few minutes later had another 29-yarder blocked; and finally booted a 20-yard field goal in the fourth period.

The rulebook field goal was a real rarity. The rule says that after a fair catch the offensive

The Packers actually held the upper hand throughout. They were able to move the ball for stretches of 42, 81, 41, 47, 24, 31 and 62 yards. The Bears moved three times — 41 yards to set up Bob Jencks' first field goal of eight yards in the second period, 42 yards for the Bears' only TD on Rudy Bukich's pass to Mike Ditka in the third period, and 51 yards for Jencks' 36-yard field goal in the third period.

The Packers ran off 57 plays against the Bears' 50 but the big difference is in the yardage. The Bears were held to 130 yards all day, including only 46 rushing, while the Packers had 17 rushing and 97 passing for their 294 total.

Jim Taylor, who did his fumbling for the season in this game, losing it three times in the second half, led the Bay rushers with 79 yards in 16 trips. Hornung followed with 77 while Moore had 19 in four carries. Starr added 22.

Bart finished with eight completions in 16 throws for 127 yards. Bill Wade worked the first half, completing only four in 11 throws, and Bukich came forth in the second and hit 7 of 16. Rudy was nicked for interceptions by Herb Adderley and Dan Currie.

Kick Goes Wide

The Packers displayed their intentions. They moved 42 yards right after the opening kickoff but the drive skidded on the Bear 35 and Hornung was wide on a field goal try. The Bears moved some, too, but the Bay defense stiffened at midfield and the Bears took over on their own 19.

The Packers were holding on the first play so they started a 91-yard TD drive from their own 9. The Bays got out of the hole on Starr's 15-yard pass to Boyd Dowler and then moved into Bear territory with Starr's 29-yard pass to Ron Kramer on the 25. From that point four running plays moved it to the 16 from where Starr and McGee connected for the TD.

After Jencks' field goal early in the second quarter and an exchange of punts by Green and Jerry Norton, who got off a 61-yarder, the Packers struck for their second TD, getting position on Green's 25-yard punt on the Bear 47.

Moore, going into Taylor's fullback slot, hit left end for five yards and then Hornung, on the option, passed to Kramer

"but Hank Jordan has a real bad leg — Kostelnik (Ron) played most of the second half. Jerry Kramer has a low grade infection in the chest, too. He was running a temperature today."

Asked to comment on his "new men," Lombardi chuckled, "I didn't play anybody. I do know Aldridge (sophomore Lionel) played real well."

"Dave Robinson (apparent successor to the retired Bill Forester at linebacker)? I won't know about Robinson until I see the pictures."

He also declined to evaluate the Bears, merely asserting, "I never say anything about the opposing team, good or bad."

Did he think, a dogged word-smith persisted, the Bears appeared as strong as last year? You're asking me the same question in different words," Vince shot back.

Voluntarily assessing the Pack's overall performance (this thus far had been overlooked, somehow, in the lengthy quiz), the Packer major-domo said, "We stopped ourselves a number of times. But I'm real happy about the way things turned out."

Quickly Dismissed

An attempt to extract a prediction on the National Football League's Western Division race was quickly dismissed. "We've got 13 more games — one game doesn't make a season and don't," Lombardi sternly warned, "count the Bears out of it by any stretch of the imagination. The Bears are a tremendous ball club."

Although never a nonchalant loser, the Bears' time less George Halas accepted this first blot on his defending world champions' slate with surprising aplomb.

Flashing a biblical bent, he said matter-of-factly, "Green Bay did unto us what we did unto them last year."

And waxing philosophical, the Bruins' 70-year-old owner coach added, "this season will be one of peaks and valleys for all teams. So, at the moment, we're batting .667 (this figure presumably includes those two victories over the packers last season). For the Bears, as for the others, there will be disappointments, as today, but we also will have peaks.

"I did indicate last week that I felt we were not ready physically, mentally or technically for this game, which is a fact," he pointed out. "I still feel that way."

"The Packers outplayed us thoroughly, no question about that. They did a great job offensively and defensively and deserved to win."

It's Still With Us

Did he feel that the deaths of Halfback Willie Galimore and end John Farrington were still a morale factor? "We're not using that as an alibi for print," Halas replied after brief reflection, "but I have no doubt that it's still with us."

He did admit, however, that injuries ("I still don't know how many we had") influenced the verdict. "We had several hurt. One of them, Richie Petitbon, did not play the entire second half. I think he had a slight concussion, and we don't take a chance with a thing like that."

"Larry Morris actually was injured twice. He went back in after he was hurt the first time and got hurt again," Halas disclosed. "And Bill George had a recurrence of a banged up leg."

He paused, then appended with a sly grin, "It sounds like too much of an alibi—but it's a good one."

His switch to Rudy Bukich at quarterback in the second half was not borne of any particular dissatisfaction with Bill Wade, George informed. "It was sort of a pre-game plan anyway, to alternate quarterbacks. There was a strong wind against us and Bukich has a strong arm."

Asked if he had any pre-game thoughts about using the now famous free kick, Halas replied, "no, but we talk about it during the training season."

"It was a natural for the Packers, in that situation," he went on. "It was a good play, but not a brilliant play." He repeated, with more emphasis, "it was not a brilliant play, but a good play."

"If the same thing had happened to us, we would have done the same thing."

Had the Packers impressed him as title timber? "Yes," he said. "They look like a heckuva good ball club."

And Paul Hornung? Has he lost anything? "Hornung," Halas declared, "has lost nothing. Hornung

Members of the press corps even most of the veterans, were no less astounded than the 42,327 assembled customers when the Packers deployed for that electrifying kick—and with good reason, it developed . . . Harry Golden, of Madison's Capital Times, said, "that's the first time I've seen that since 1916 when I saw it in a college game." Lloyd Larson, of the Milwaukee Sentinel, and a former Big Ten football official, reported, "I ran into it on one of the first games I refereed about 35 years ago, so I learned it the hard way. It's one of the oldest rules in football—it's as old as the offense. It was a new experience, however, for Clem Coliard."

Browns Open With Win Over Washington

Cleveland Scores Three Easy TDs on Way to 27-13 Victory

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cleveland pounced on fumbling Washington Sunday for three easy touchdowns, then hammered 77 yards on the ground for a fourth quarter touchdown that snuffed out the Redskins' last hope and wrapped up a 27-13 National Football League victory in a steady rain.

The Redskins jumped off to a 10-0 lead in the first half — to the delight of a capacity crowd of 47,577 — but then Washington suddenly found the ball too slippery and began to drop it in key situations.

The Redskins built up their quick lead early in the second quarter on a 12-yard field goal by Jim Martin and a 17-yard run by rookie Charlie Taylor, after a pass interception by rookie Paul Krause, first of two interceptions by Krause.

Fumbles Punt

At this point the Redskins looked unbeatable. Then rookie Ozzie Clay fumbled a punt and the Browns recovered on the Redskins 26. On the second play, Frank Ryan tossed 23 yards to Gary Collins for a touchdown.

Cleveland then rolled 70 yards for a touchdown. A pass interference call against Johnny Sample gave the Browns the ball on the five. Jimmy Brown carried over in two tries.

SAN MARINO (AP) — Communist-Socialist strength dwindled still further today in the world's oldest and tiniest republic as the Christian Democrats and the Democratic Socialists won another solid election victory.

The election, in which women voted for the first time, was for the 60-member Grand Council, the parliament for the mountainous country of 15,000 people in northeast Italy.

Lema Gains Easy Win In Golf's World Series

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Champagne Tony Lema slipped his favorite drink, stuffed a $50,000 check in his pocket — thankful for the breaks which helped him capture the World Series of Golf Sunday.

The British Open champion struck a tree on one shot only to have the ball carom 100 yards farther down the middle of the fairway, and used a blacktop walk as a guide to an important par on No. 9. He boosted his lead over his nearest rival, U.S. Open champion Ken Venturi.

Going into the final round, Lema trailed Venturi by one stroke. Masters champion Arnold Palmer and PGA winner Bobby Nichols were never in the running as Lema fired a 34-34 — 68 for a 138 total and Venturi blew to a 38-36—74 and 143.

Nichols had a 36-34—70 Sunday for a 147 and Palmer, the pre-tournament favorite, had a pair of 74s to finish last with 148.

Venturi's share of the $75,000 purse was $15,000 while Nichols and Palmer pocketed $5,000 each from a swag which does not count in official earnings.

Lema wasted no time Sunday in catching Venturi and pulled into a tie on the second hole as Venturi took a bogey 6. The two remained tied on No. 3. But Champagne Tony took the lead on No. 4 when Venturi took the second of six bogeys he posted in the round.

Venturi pulled into a tie with a birdie on No. 6 but Lema went ahead to stay with a birdie 2 on No. 7 while Venturi had to settle for another bogey.

First Motorcycle Trip Is a Bit Rough for Rider-Reporter House

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

If the world is on a new cycle — motor cycle, that is — so am I. The fast — growing trend in the use of motor cycles, motor bikes, a kind of scooter has been so pronounced that it suggested experimentation with one, and a report to gentle reader.

For two weeks I whisked my way everywhere — to field and stream, to office and meeting, to cover a story, visit a friend — or just to show off.

For the experiment, I selected a featherweight (103 pounds) Harley — Davidson because it is a brand new model. Briskly red, it is continental in appearance. A 1965 model known as the M-50, it was the first one to be sold in the Appleton area. It was manufactured in an Italian factory, a subsidiary plant of a Wisconsin manufacturer which is the nation's largest. I might have chosen any of more than 30 different brands of motorcycles sold in the Fox Valley area, including Honda, Triumph, Norton, Ducati, Yamaha, or any of more than 100 kinds of motorcycles manufactured today in the wake of the motorcycle boom.

First of a Series

Sales Leap

Sales of all makes have leaped 125 per cent in the U. S. since 1962. In that year some 40 million dollars worth of motorcycles were sold in the U. S. In 1963, the total jumped to 75 million dollars. By 1968, according to estimates, approximately one million motorcycles will be sold in the U. S. If so, that will be a jump of 830,000 cycles in a five year period.

Undoubtedly the upsurge in motorcycle sales and use in the U. S. was stimulated by the introduction of low-cost, lightweight Japanese models and a skillful, determined advertising campaign which sought to (and did) remove much of the onus created by hoodlums in black leather jackets who gravitated to motorcycles as a means of transport.

Economy is an important aspect in the booming sales of today. My test vehicle cost $225; and its manufacturers claim 180 miles to the gallon of gasoline.

In two weeks of nearly full-time use, I traveled a total of 495 miles on three gallons of gasoline. To each gallon, one adds about a half pint (about 17 cents worth) of 40-weight motor oil. Thus the cost of operating the featherweight vehicle almost 500 miles totaled only $1.41.

I averaged 165 miles for each gallon of fuel. It is likely, however, that I was not skillful in the initial handling of the little motorcycle. And it is certain that I ran it hard, that I put it to bitter tests and climbed every difficult hill I could find. Nevertheless, I could drive to Chicago and back at an estimated cost of about 80 cents.

Insurance Rates

Insurance rates are low, too — even for the ubiquitous teenager. Motorcyclists (of all ages) can get adequate coverage — fire, theft and liability — for $50 per year.

Motorcycle purchase prices run a wide range, from the $225 of my lightweight to something more than $1,600 for bigger, tougher vehicles capable of speeds faster than 100 mph.

The vehicle I chose for test usage cruised well at 30 to 35 mph which I decided was judicious. I felt the top speed I was able to attain (44 mph) was too swift for the lightweight cycle.

But I was a motorcyclist for the first time in my life. I had to learn things.

"This," said the dealer, "is the gear shift." He indicated the left side of the handlebar.

"You squeeze this clutch, then turn your wrist. It moves into second gear. You depress the clutch again, move it into third gear and you're on your way," he said.

The clutch is like a handbrake on a bicycle.

"Now," he said, "the throttle is on the right hand grip. You just roll your wrist and the motor will zoom. Let the grip alone and the engine will automatically slow down. It's a safety feature."

"Got that so far?" he asked.

"Yes."

"Okay, then. This bar on the right grip looks like a hand brake on a bike. Right?"

"Yep."

Front-Wheel Brake

"Well, that's what it is. Squeeze it with your fingers and it applies the front wheel brake," he said.

Now he pointed to a foot peg on the right side of the cycle. "You rest your right foot here when you drive. But in front of this peg is a smaller one."

You simply rest your toe on that smaller peg and press down. That's the rear wheel brake. Okay?"

"Okay."

"Well then. See this rubber tipped thing here on the left side of the motorcycle? That's the starter. Now stand up, straddling the machine. Put your left foot on the starter. Press down. Okay?"

Okay. I pressed down and the engine throbbed like my power mower.

"Now depress the clutch there on the left handlebar grip."

"Okay."

"Okay when you let out the clutch you're under way. Can you do it?"

"Yep."

I depressed the clutch, moved my wrist and slid into the first of three gears. The motor knocked out.

"Well," he said "you aren't supposed to let it fly out. Ease it out, just as you ease out the clutch of your car."

"Okay."

I moved the lever back to neutral, stepped on the kickstarter, slipped the lever into first speed, then slowly eased out the clutch. I was riding. Clumsily I moved the clutch into second gear, turned the throttle, listened to the roar, clashed the gears a bit, but then corrected my throttle.

First speed, second speed, third speed. I was cruising about 15 miles per hour. I moved my right wrist, turned up the throttle and moved out smoothly.

Engine Konked

I rolled around the block, got into traffic on Richmond Street and wished I were out of it. I made a wobbly turn onto Francis Street, used the hand brake and came to a stop in front of the agency. The engine konked out.

"Well," said the dealer, "you should put the gearshift into neutral if you want to stop — just as you do in a car."

"Oh."

I shifted to neutral, stepped on the kickstarter and the engine responded.

"Now," I asked, "how do I shut off the engine?"

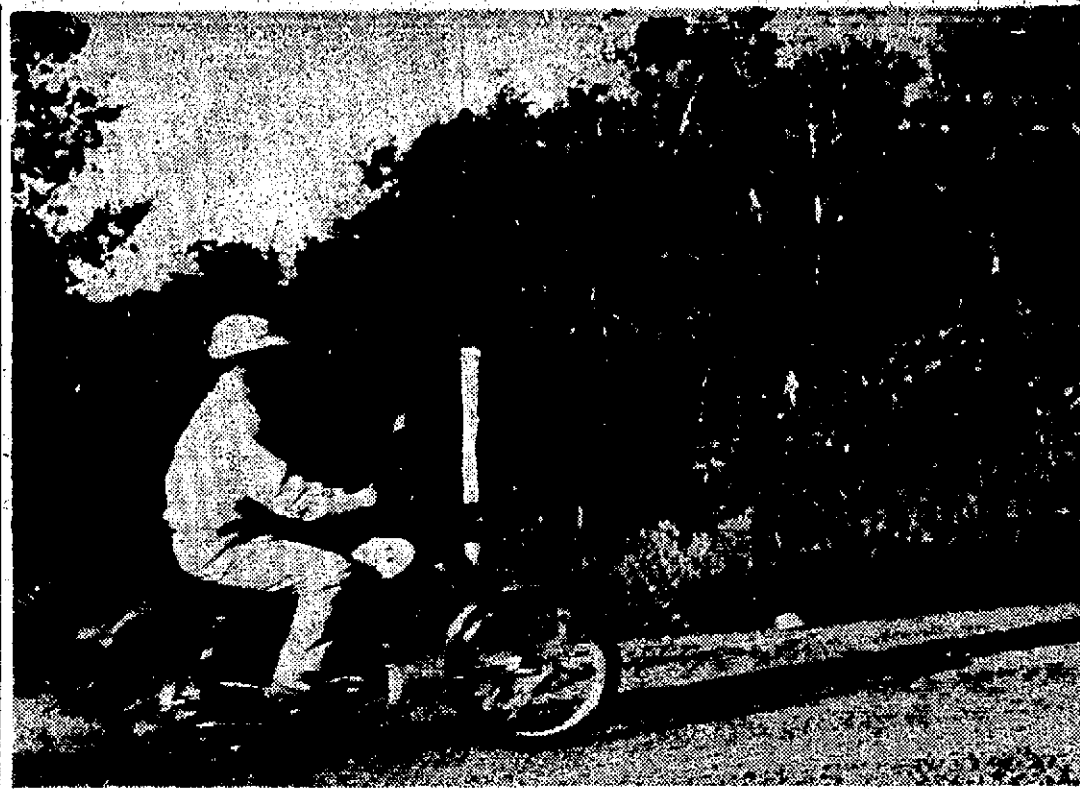

"Press this little button here."

Okay. She stopped.

"Now, here," he said, "is the horn. Here is the light switch; it lights front and rear. It's real bright. See?"

"Yep."

"The tank holds one and a half gallons of gas. There's one and a half quarts in the reserve tank. You add oil to the gas, just as in an outboard motor. You unscrew the gas cap, pour four capful of set."

"That all I need to know?"

I started the engine, shifted into first and, my supervised

12 Fatalities In State Traffic

1964 Total Grows To 759 Compared With 590 in 1963

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Twelve deaths were recorded in accidents on Wisconsin highways during the weekend as the state's traffic toll for the year mounted to 759, compared with 590 on this date in 1963.

A double fatality was recorded Sunday in Trempealeau County when a car left Highway 93 about one mile north of Arcadia and struck two utility poles and a cement wall of an old trout pond. Killed were William Howard and Benedict Slaby Jr., both 19, of Arcadia.

Thomas A. Wettland, 20, of Westchester, Ill., a Marine home on leave, was killed Sunday night after his car hit a ditch on a curve of Highway 55 about 25 miles northeast of Antigo. He had been visiting his mother at the family summer home at nearby Sawyer Lake.

A car overturned and struck a culvert after leaving Highway 28 five miles west of Kewaskum Saturday night, killing the driver, John W. Byrne, 18, of rural Allenton.

Jerome A. Larson, 18, of rural Rio, died Saturday night in a two-car collision in Middleton, Dane County. He was trapped under one of the cars and suffocated.

Babysitter and 2 Children Die In Plane Crash

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — A babysitter planned to take her two young charges to the Detroit Zoo, but changed her mind Sunday, in order to treat them to an airplane ride.

All three were killed in a fiery crash near Pontiac.

Officials at Pontiac Municipal Airport said the four-seat private plane was coming in for an emergency landing after the pilot radioed that the craft was ailing.

Killed were Judith Ann Korytkowski, 22; Jeffery Philippart, 5, and his brother Gregory, 4.

The boys were sons of Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Philippart Jr. of Detroit.

Piloting the craft was Roy S. McPhail, 26. McPhail was reported in critical condition with burns.

Surviving Girl Describes Tragedy and How She Escaped

KASOTA, Minn. (AP) — Ten children, "so scared they ran around in circles and didn't know what to do," died in a fire that swept through their farm home.

Another child, Joanne McConnell, 14, was the only occupant to escape the burning home Saturday night. She jumped from a second-story window and, barefoot and wearing only a nightgown, pedaled a mile on her bicycle to the nearest telephone.

Joanne and nine of the victims were children and stepchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bowdish. The other child killed was an orphan boy who lived with the family.

Father Unemployed
Bowdish, an unemployed auto mechanic, had moved his family to the rented house just outside Kasota about a week ago. They had been making repairs on the house the family owned in Mankato, about six miles southwest. Kasota is a town of about 650 population in southern Minnesota.

Mrs. and Mrs. Bowdish were not home when the fire broke out. They had driven to Minneapolis to pick up some appliances which friends had given them.

The victims were Daniel Bowdish, 3; Loretta Bowdish, 4; Lucetta Bowdish, 5; Kenneth Bowdish, 6; Linda McConnell, 9; Marvin McConnell, 10; Richard McConnell, 11; Mary McConnell, 13; Robert McConnell, 16; and Roger Brown, 15. The McConnell youngsters were Mrs. Bowdish's children by a previous marriage.

The Brown boy, an orphan, had been living with the Bowdish family for about two months.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowdish learned of the tragedy when they arrived from Minneapolis about midnight Saturday. Law officers stopped them on the road near the house and broke the news.

The couple went to nearby St. Peter and talked to Joanne, hospitalized there for shock.

Daughter Discovered In Dazed Condition In Big Falls Cottage

BIG FALLS — An Appleton man and his son were found suffocated early today in their cottage near the Little Wolf River near here.

Winske David

13. Winske owned and operated the Walter Winske Commercial Photography Studio.

A daughter, Bonnie, 12, also at the cottage for the weekend, was in a dazed condition when Winske's wife discovered them about 1 a.m.

Mrs. Winske, who had been in Appleton, went to the cottage to investigate when Winske and his children did not return. They had been due home at 3 p.m. Sunday.

Charcoal Grill
Waupaca County Undersheriff William Mork said the trio ate a meal Saturday night cooked on a charcoal grill outside the cottage. Before they went to bed, Mork said, Winske apparently brought the grill into the kitchen portion of the three-room frame cottage.

The girl told Mork they all

Air Force Commander Remains Loyal, Helps Frustrate Rebels During Their Bloodless Coup

BY MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — An attempt to overthrow Premier Nguyen Khanh's government collapsed today less than 24 hours after 2,000 rebel troops marched into Saigon and ordered Khanh's arrest as a traitor. Not a shot was fired.

The air force commander, Brig. Gen. Nguyen Cao Ky, who remained loyal to Khanh during the abortive uprising, told a news conference the government of South Viet Nam was "exactly as before the coup."

He said the rebel leaders would not be arrested and that unity had been restored.

In Washington, U.S. officials expressed relief that Khanh remained in power but could not say whether the events would bolster or further weaken his shaky hold in the embattled country.

Action No Surprise
The attempted coup, engineered by a group of dissident generals, was not unexpected. Rumors that Khanh faced a revolt swept the city Saturday.

It came while Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, the U.S. ambassador, was out of the country. He returned to the capital early today after four days of talks in Washington during which U.S. officials said they concluded South Viet Nam needs greater political stability to strengthen its war against the Communist Viet Cong.

Residents Unperturbed
Throughout the coup attempt, Saigon residents reacted with sullen indifference. Motorists blew their horns angrily at tanks interfering with traffic. Shoppers paid little attention to announcements broadcast from planes with loudspeakers. Even swooping fighter-bombers failed to arouse much interest.

Had the coup succeeded, it would have been the third in less than a year. President Ngo

MADISON — Gov. John Reynolds said today the National Farmer's Organization livestock withholding action has produced "the most serious problem in law enforcement we have faced in Wisconsin in 35 years or more."

But the governor told a news conference that he feels he has taken "every reasonable precaution to maintain law and order."

As he has said before, the governor explained that the primary responsibility for law enforcement in Wisconsin is the hands of local police and sheriffs' departments.

Spoke Slowly
The state executive spoke slowly and deliberately as reporters popped questions inspired by the incidents of violence reported recently in connection with the determined efforts of the farmers' group to force up meat prices by keeping their animals off the market and their efforts to organize picket lines to discourage non-members from shipping their stock. Reynolds also declined comment to some questions which are unusual for the man whose sessions with reporters are usually free-wheeling affairs.

The governor said he continues to oppose the mobilization of the National Guard as a peace-keeping measure, when reporters brought up the question again and again, evidently reflecting some of the demands of the governor's political critics.

Pope Again Voices Plea For Unity

BY GERALD MILLER

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI opened the third and possibly decisive session of the Vatican Ecumenical Council today, calling on bishops of the Roman Catholic Church to define their place in Church government with regard to the pontiff. He pledged anew to help the search for Christian unity.

Symbolizing the sharing of papal-episcopal power, the Pope consecrated a special Mass with 24 prelates on the altar of St. Peter's.

Then in an address to the 2,500 council fathers from around the globe, the Pope:

—Declared that the papal-bishop issue was the most important task of the council.

Shared Authority
—Stressed that sharing authority with bishops in governing the church meant no lessening of papal primacy.

—Told the bishops that the problems and dangers of modern life demanded a greater need for centralized leadership of the Church.

—Promised to do all possible to bring Catholics and other Christians together.

Pope Paul called the task of defining papal-bishop authority the "weightiest and most delicate" mission of the council. The issue has important implications for Christian unity.

Sacred Authority
—As successors of Peter and therefore possessors of full power over the entire Church, we have the duty of heading the body of the episcopate," the Pope said. "Nevertheless our position in no way defrauds you, our brother bishops, of your due authority."

"On the contrary we are among the first to respect that sacred authority."

Greatest Problem
The issue of shared papal-episcopal authority has divided the progressive and conservative elements in the council, and its resolution is expected to set the tone of Roman Catholicism in the modern world.

Some conservative prelates want to put the whole matter of shared authority off to some future council, or leave it entirely to the Pope.

Pope Paul apparently was referring to such opposition when he said today:

"The fathers of the First Vatican Council (held in 1869-70) defined and proclaimed the truly unique and supreme powers conferred by Christ on Peter and handed on to his successors. This recognition has appeared to some as having limited the authority of bishops... and as having rendered superfluous and prevented the convocation of a subsequent ecumenical council, which, however, according to canon law has supreme authority over the entire Church."

Can't Sidetrack Issue
The Pope then made clear that the issue of shared authority could not be put aside at this council.

He said: "the present ecumenical synod is certainly going to confirm the doctrine of the previous one regarding the prerogatives of the Roman pontiff. But it will also have as its principal objective the task of describing and honoring the prerogatives of the episcopate."

In possibly his strongest commitment to have the council

Battle for Nurse For New London to Go to School Board

One-Woman Battle for Medical Assistance Gaining Support

NEW LONDON — Ald. Mrs. Grace Stern (3rd) is expected to carry what until last week was her one-woman battle to get a city-school nurse to the board of education tonight.

Mrs. Stern's proposal to fill a vacancy in the city health department and at the same time fill the needs of the school system has been gaining support.

Businessmen, some aldermen and members of the school board had indicated their support for the alderman's drive for a nurse.

Mrs. Stern said last week she is planning to meet with the board with the hope a joint committee of councilmen and school board members can be established to discuss the proposal.

Main Objection

"We will never know if a workable solution can be worked out if we don't have a joint meeting," she said.

One factor which apparently is the main objection to Mrs. Stern's plan is the question of who will pay for the nurse.

Mrs. Marian Markman, clerk of the board of education and a backer of Mrs. Stern, said the city could bill her board for the amount of time the nurse spent in the school system.

She described the need for a school nurse as "acute" and said she would like to see a system established throughout Waupaca County in which more than one nurse would be employed.

Better Coverage.

This would lead, she said, to better coverage of the cities and schools and also would mean less overlapping of the duties of the nurse. She said she would back Mrs. Stern's suggestion at the meeting tonight.

Mrs. Stern quotes County Nurse Martha Higl in listing the needs for a nurse. She says a nurse would:

- Control the outbreak of communicable diseases.
- Assist parents in securing proper medical attention for their children.
- Visit homes and emphasize the need for isolation to prevent disease.

—Visit the elderly and assure that they have a proper diet.

—Teach "healthful living" as a means of general disease protection.

An informal poll of New London residents last week showed they favored hiring a city-school nurse two to one.

Dr. F. J. Pfeifer, the city physician and a strong backer of Mrs. Stern's battle for a public health nurse, said the hidden value—education of the public—is the greatest dividend the public could get for its money.

Mrs. Stern said he was receiving additional support each day and, achieving her proposal no longer looked like the futile attempt it did little more than a week ago.

Won't Consider Vocational Unit In New London

State Director Tells Education Board to Use Appleton School

NEW LONDON — Chances for a school of vocational and technical education being located in this area diminished last week during a special session of the board of education.

The board and about 20 interested persons heard C. L. Griebler, director of the State Board of Vocational and Adult Education, say it would be better to make arrangements with the Appleton School of Vocational and Adult Education.

He said he would not consider approving a vocational and technical school to serve the Waupaca County area at this time but added the matter could be brought to him again later. If the facts presented warranted further study it was possible he might consider establishment of a school, Griebler said.

Committee Stymied

Presently, the Appleton school is working with representatives from the Kaukauna, Kimberly, Menasha and Neenah vocational school boards in planning a proposed area school similar to the one in which New London is interested.

This study committee, however, has been stymied over organization of a board to govern the proposed school.

Supl. of New London Schools H. James Ramsdell said the outlook for a vocational school in the area was "not very promising at the moment."

"Severe Blow"

An earlier report by a state official dealt what Ramsdell called a "severe blow" to supporters of a central technical and vocational school in this area.

Griebler's announcement leaves very little hope of securing the proposed school, Ramsdell said.

NEW LONDON — Borden Co. firm is discharged into the river.

Some waste apparently is being discharged through the cooling waters, the state board of health said. The board ordered that the line be rechecked and source of the waste be located and transferred to the municipal sewage system.

Storm Water.

The city treatment system, built in 1954, is being used over its designed capacity, city officials said.

As a result effluent has deteriorated and odors have been reported in the vicinity of the plant.

Storm water drainage is another problem. Some storm sewers run into the plant limiting the treatment processes, A. Schafer, plant superintendent said. The problem is getting worse, he said.

Representatives on the pollution committee are Ray Peli-shek, director of public works; Mrs. Grace Stern (3rd), board of health chairman; Jerome Zaug, (1st), finance chairman; Matt Burton (5th) and Art Gesplant. Cooling water from the Discharge from Borden Co. and the city sewage plant has caused pollution of the river, the State Board of Health reported at a recent meeting in Clintonville.

The problem, while not as serious as many in the Wolf River drainage basin, should be corrected since it contributes to the entire lower Wolf area, the board said.

Plant Overloaded

State Board of Health officials said some pollution was coming from the cooling system of Borden Co. The plant makes Swiss cheese, condenses whey and milk and operates a receiving station.

Sewage and wash water wastes are treated at the city's municipal sewage treatment plant. Cooling water from the

Bethany Home Has Tenth Anniversary

Officials Greet More Than 1,000 at Waupaca Barbecue

WAUPACA — More than 1,000 persons attended the 10th anniversary of Bethany home Saturday.

In 1954, 18 residents were housed in an old wooden structure, formerly the Bethany Children's Home. A wing was added in 1957 bringing the home's capacity to 34. In 1960 the present one-story modern building was started and dedicated in December, 1961. Residents at the home number 120.

For Saturday's anniversary, a chicken barbecue was served in a large tent near the home. Volunteer workers and members of the staff had booths at which baked goods and handicraft articles made at the home were sold.

The celebration also served as a welcome for Robert I. Larson, new administrator of the home.

Senator Speaks

During an afternoon program State Sen. Gerald Lorge, Bear Creek, outlined state legislation passed in recent years to aid the aged.

Using 1963 figures, Lorge said, there were 444 homes opened during the year, 611 under construction and 1,127 being planned. The average cost of a new home for the aged is $558,360. There is an average of 95 beds per home. The new Bethany home, which was constructed for 125 residents, was built at a cost of $950,000.

"It is not the money that makes a good home for the aged but the staff," Lorge said.

Board of Directors

Musical selections were played by the Waupaca High School band under the direction of Sam Winder. The Rev. R. D. Gildsath, Wautoma, gave the invocation.

Policemen Outnumber NFO Men

BONDUEL—Equity Cooperative's livestock yards here opened for business today with law enforcement officials outnumbering representatives of the National Farmers Organization.

The stock yards was the scene last Wednesday of the death of two NFO demonstrators. They were killed when members of the farm organization mobbed a livestock truck entering the yard.

Today was the first day the yard had operated since the incident. Ivan Miller, Cecil, operator of the truck, was being held by Shawano County authorities.

'Lot of Livestock'

Roger Robson, manager of the yards, said there was "good law enforcement representation and a lot of livestock" at the yard today.

However, he said, there was NFO observers in evidence only a "token" delegation of early today. An NFO mob estimated at more than 500 was present last week.

Robson said criticism by him last week of various governmental officials was aimed at the Shawano County district attorney, not the sheriff department.

"The sheriff's department has given every cooperation humanly possible. Robson said. "When I lashed out, I was talking about the district attorney, not the sheriff department."

An Armour and Co. receiving station near Chilton was quiet because the station is only open on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Sign to Close

Both have signed agreements with the NFO promising to remain closed until after Sept. 20. It was those demonstrations that sparked the picketing at Bonduel.

Both Kuehne and Nolan had agreed to stay closed after Sept. 20. If the Equity yard here would also close.

Adam Zehfus, president of Wolf River Sausage Co., Weyauwega, said cattle were coming in at a rate slightly below a normal Monday.

He said he didn't know how his day's receipts would compare until late afternoon. There was no sign of NFO pickets at his plant this morning.

Brillion Board to Study Installing Sewage System

BRILLION — Expenditure of $2,000 for replacement of an inoperable sewage system at discussed by the board of education at its meeting this evening.

The money, not budgeted, is necessary, school officials say, to put in an entirely new seepage bed. The old system is being abandoned.

A parent living outside Brillion School District has asked that a son live in Brillion, work and attend school without paying tuition.

Reports from the vocational agriculture, home economics and athletic departments will be heard.

The board will officially announce that Robert Thom, dean of boys at Neenah High School, will give the June, 1965, high school graduation address.

Major Prophet of Flying Saucer Fanciers Gives Talk in Appleton

George Adamski, Who Says He Met Visitors From Other Planets, Outlines Experiences

BY TOM RICHARDS
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The major prophet of Appleton's flying saucer fanciers arrived in the Fox Valley Friday night, and at an informal conference outlined his beliefs, predictions and "experiences."

George Adamski, 73, Vista, Calif., who claims to have met visitors from other planets, and ridden in their space ships, was in Appleton for a three-day lecture series.

He told some 50 believers, skeptics and non-believers Friday night he has been in contact with the space visitors since the late 1940s, and has conferred with officials of every major nation in the world.

Through a heavy accent, the son of Polish immigrants said people from Venus and Mars who are visiting earth are not hostile. They have come to prevent war on Earth, he said.

The "space people" fear a nuclear war on Earth would split the planet, and cause it to disintegrate. This, he said, would throw the entire solar system out of balance and cause destruction of the visitors' home planets.

Adamski said it is "good" for earthmen to go into space, even if their theories are "full of hot air."

work force (in the United States) is employed in space projects," he claimed. "Pretty soon, all of us will be."

This will be valuable, he forecast, because "sagging economies are responsible for wars. We are almost to that stage now," he warned. "Machines in three months can produce all the goods the world needs for a whole year."

Adamski is trim and dapper at 73, with a thick shock of wavy white hair and piercing

Truck Driver Tells His Version Of Fatal Accident in Bonduel

SHAWANO (AP)—"I am not running; I have no reason to," Ivan Mueller said Friday when interviewed by newsmen at the Shawano County jail.

The husky 40-year-old live-stock hauler has been kept in the jail, under extra security precautions on a charge of homicide by reckless conduct. The charge grew out of the deaths of two members of the National Farmers Organization who were run over by Mueller's truck in Bonduel Wednesday. The men were part of a large group demonstrating against the delivery of livestock to the Equity sales yard.

"I'm not ashamed to face any one of them," Mueller said. "Many of the people in that crowd were friends of mine. I went to school with some."

News Conference

The news conference was arranged by his attorney, Bernard Berk of Green Bay, who was not present but had told newsmen "ask him anything you like."

Speaking in a calm manner, Mueller detailed his activities of Wednesday from the time he left home until the NFO pickets were killed. His family has since been moved from their home as a protection measure.

He said he left home accompanied by five NFO members, two riding in his truck and three in a private truck following. He stopped at five different farms to pick up livestock. NFO members with him persuaded two farmers to withhold their stock but the other three loaded their animals.

Give Service

"Under my Public Service Commission contract I have to give service if a farmer wants me to haul," Mueller said. "He said he parted on friendly terms with his NFO companions and drove to Bonduel."

"I didn't anticipate seeing what I saw," Mueller said. "There were cars all over the highway and a big crowd at the Equity gate, so big I misjudged where the gate was and stopped at the wrong place on the highway. If I had known it was going to be like that, I wouldn't have taken my truck out that morning."

He said a number of NFO members were friends and distant relatives of his. "I told them a farmer has a right to ship if he wants to and I have a contract to haul," he said. He also said he had been threatened by phone shortly after the NFO withholding action began some weeks ago.

Armed Himself

In answer to questions Mueller said he is currently an active deputy sheriff and Sheriff Carl Krueger had advised him to arm himself and have a witness in the truck with him on making his rounds.

He said his truck had struck no one in front of it at the yard and he was not aware that the truck had run over two men—Howard Falk, 64, of Bonduel, and Melvin Cummings, 44, of Birnamwood.

Mueller said the fact that he had a .38 caliber pistol, which he had bought from a former sheriff, saved his life when angry NFO demonstrators surrounded his truck after he entered the sales yard.

Neutral Gear

When demonstrators started rocking his truck, Mueller said, his foot almost slipped from the clutch and he put the vehicle into neutral gear. Later, he said, when he backed up, the rocking stopped.

Mueller said he had no particular strong conviction about getting his load into the yard but moved the truck ahead in dual load gear "as slow as the truck could go" to prevent the pickets from turning it over.

"The crowd parted when I moved ahead," Mueller said, "a deputy waved me in and I drove on, never realizing I had run over the men."

Even after the demonstrators streamed after him, screaming "murder," Mueller said, "I still thought it was some kind of joke. It wasn't until I parked and Walter Bonasinski, a deputy, said I had run over two men that I really believed it had happened."

Mueller said he had not asked for help from any officers present. "If I had opened the door or rolled down a window I wouldn't be here now. When they started rocking the truck I thought my life was in danger and I felt that way all the time they were throwing stones and screaming about murder. But they seemed to sort of back away when they saw the gun and I think the gun saved my life."

The Shawano County jail has extra guards now and doors are double locked.

Muskies Found In Lake Survey

27 of 34 Fish Found In Fox Valley Waters Are of Legal Size

CHILTON — A recent elective boom shocking survey of Bullhead Lake, five miles southeast of Brillion turned up 34 muskies, 27 of which were of legal size.

Kieth Reichenbach, Chilton conservation warden, said the largest fish found was 37 inches long and the smallest, 27 inches.

Muskies were planted in the lake six years ago. Reichenbach said over 1,000 fingerling fish were planted over a two year period.

On May 1 the Conservation Department seined the lake and at that time only one out of three fish were of legal size, he said.

The disappointing part of the shocking test was failure to find any small fish, which indicates a lack of reproduction. Reichenbach said the lake was chosen because of the good habitat for the fish.

He did say that black bass were abundant despite a heavy fishing pressure during the summer.

Old School Is Reunion Scene

120 Jammed Into Tiny, 103-Year-Old Cedar Dell Building

SUGAR BUSH — The aged one-room Cedar Dell School, believed to have had its doors closed for the last time at the end of the 1963-1964 school year, Saturday, was the scene of a reunion for teachers and students of the school.

About 120 persons jammed into the school for final inspection of the 103-year-old building.

The school was opened in 1861. Cost of operation that year was $112.19. In 1863, a black-board cost $2.50. In 1871, $10 bought enough wood to heat the building for the entire year.

In 1890, money received to operate the school was $254.78, and the expenses for the year were only $228.33.

Theresa McKone (Mrs. Theresa Batters, Bear Creek) taught in the school in 1899 and 1900 for $156. The first teachers were Jane Houston and Mary O'Brien.

The last teacher at the school was paid about 50 times as much as the first teachers. She was Mrs. Robert Golden.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wisconsin law enforcement officers prepared today to deal with stepped up activity in the National Farmers Organization's livestock holding action thus far marked by frequent outbursts of violence. Even as sheriffs and district attorneys were briefed Sunday at three regional meetings called by Gov. John W. Reynolds, there came reports of the dynamiting of two livestock stations owned by the Oscar Mayer Co., of Madison. There was no indication that the incident was linked with the NFO. The explosions at Abbotsford and Medford early Sunday wrecked expensive scales but caused no injuries. Plants Picketed Both plants have been picketed from time to time since the NFO began its holding action Aug. 19 in an effort to force up the price paid the producer for cattle and hogs. The meetings of local law enforcement officers, held at Green Bay, Eau Claire and Madison, were called by the governor after his meeting with NFO president Oren Lee Staley following the death of two demonstrators run over by a truck at the livestock yards at Bonduel. Deputy Atty. Gen. Walter Cole, heading a task force of state officials flying to the three meetings, warned sheriffs to brace for a rough week. "Guerrilla Warfare" "Next week may be a strain on all of us," Cole said. "Staley said next week he would be down to the 'hard-core' in his stock holding action. "This is guerrilla warfare," declared Cole. "This is shooting trucks. This is killing calves. This is debris on the highway. That is why this is a local enforcement problem." Other state officials urged stiffer law enforcement. They said Staley and others of the NFO leaders had promised to cooperate with local authorities in controlling their members. At the Eau Claire meeting, Sheriff Lee Arntz of Chippewa County, took issue with the promise of cooperation. Attends Funerals "These boys in bib overalls don't care what Staley says," said Arntz. "They tell us they are acting on their own for a cause." Arntz said he looked for an

BONDUEL — About 250 to 300 persons, including about 150 National Farmers Organization (NFO) members and their wives, crowded St. Paul Lutheran Church here Sunday for funeral services for Howard Falk, 64, one of two NFO pickets run over by a loaded cattle truck during a demonstration at Equi-Lux Cooperative stockyards Wednesday morning. There was no funeral cortege. The body was taken to the Zastrow Funeral Home to be transferred to Milwaukee for burial today. One uniformed officer was on the scene, Capt. Edward Bahr of the Shawano County Traffic patrol, although a State Patrol car was at a main highway intersection. Sheriff Carl Krueger spent some time discussing the Wednesday incident with several NFO members. Among persons attending the funeral was Oren Lee Staley, national president of the NFO. NFO Under Control One of the NFO members said the safest place for Ivan Mueller, 39, of Cecil, driver of the truck which ran over the two demonstrators, would be in the basement of one of the NFO member's homes, if he were released from the Shawano County jail where he is being held. He asserted that NFO members were under control, but "somebody else" might do harm to Mueller to discredit the NFO movement. He did not disclose who the "somebody else" might be. Another man who declined to tell his story to the sheriff said he had been under the truck, falling behind the rear wheels, and he saw the two victims run over. When questioned he said he believed the men were dead or badly injured before the rear wheels passed over them.

Shares Move To High Ground

Some Profit-Taking During 9th Day Of Steady Gains

NEW YORK (AP) — Strength in steels helped the stock market move toward its ninth straight daily advance early this afternoon in fairly active trading. Gains of most key stocks were mainly fractional, but the number of losses was increasing as traders took profits on recent gains. Glowing reports of orders for steel and of improvement in the industry accompanied the rise in steels. Also helpful were prospects of labor peace in the auto industry as union talks continued with Ford. Motors moved to the upside after an uncertain start. The trend was generally higher among nonferrous metals, electrical equipments, tobaccos and mail order-retails. Record Highs Aerospace issues, airlines and building materials declined. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .3 at 324.1 with industrials up .5, rails up .6 and utilities off .2. The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .66 at 867.79 as it continued to move into record high ground. On the American Stock Exchange, some wide gains were made as the list moved higher in moderate trading. Corporate bonds drifted lower. U.S. government bonds were firm.

HORTONVILLE—Sixth graders in the Hortonville Elementary School began an experimental class in a foreign language today. Instruction is in French, and will be given in a half hour period, five days per week. Miss Dorothy Doran of the high school staff is the instructor. As this class is experimental no marks or grades will be given. The new 24-unit foreign language laboratory has been installed in the high school and is being used by all foreign language students. Approved by the NDEA, 60 per cent of the cost is paid by federal funds. The class grows from the differences in schools, and many need expressed by many that active participating experiences the time to begin foreign language instruction is in the grade materials.

Honor Farm Escapee Caught Near Black Creek

A walkaway from the Oneida honor farm of the Wisconsin State Reformatory was held captive by workers in a labor camp early this morning near Black Creek and turned over to Outagamie County sheriff authorities. Authorities said Donald Erickson, 21, stopped at the labor camp near Black Creek to ask directions. The camp is on State 54 one mile east of Black Creek. Workers there were suspicious of Erickson and had been informed of a possible escapee from the reformatory by county police earlier. The man did not resist when authorities arrived at the work camp to take him into custody. Sheriff L. Jack Frenz is questioning the man today before turning him over to reformatory officials.

The Campaign Starts Slowly

It may be that we are over-anxious for the real meat of the presidential campaign, or perhaps there has been so much written about the real debate that would go on this fall between Senator Goldwater and President Johnson that it has put things out of perspective, but Senator Goldwater's early campaign speeches have been a disappointment.

A fault of most candidates is a tendency toward generalization rather than specific programs of remedy. This is particularly true of the party or candidates who are not in office. The late John Kennedy's bland reference to the "missile gap" that turned out not to exist is an example.

But there has been an inconsistency about Senator Goldwater's talks, particularly in view of some of his votes in the Senate. It is almost as though, despite the delegate strength he built up before the convention, he and his advisors were caught unaware when the nomination actually became a reality.

Senator Goldwater has promised that, if elected, he will end the military draft. He has ignored in the simple statement the fact that the platforms of both parties carry planks backing manpower studies as well as legislation already introduced into the Senate by Senator Nelson to phase out the draft gradually. Nor did Goldwater give any indication how he would maintain the strength of our armed forces, something about which he apparently feels strongly. Volunteers to date are not enough.

In somewhat a similar vein Senator Goldwater has called for reduction in income taxes at the rate of 5 per cent a year over five years. But since he voted against the recent tax cut bill which passed in Congress, he must feel that a tax cut can only be justified by a cut in spending. But that part of his proposed program is thus far missing although it would seem logical that it should accompany the recommendation for a cut. Moreover, Senator Goldwater had earlier criticized any reduction in spending on defense, the major cost of government today.

In a recent speech Senator Goldwater sought to lay blame for the race riots in northern cities upon the Johnson administration. But we assume that Goldwater would strenuously oppose any more involvement by the federal government into local affairs. Police power definitely is a prerogative of state and local governments. How does Senator Goldwater propose to halt or discourage such riots by action of the federal government and at the same time turn the nation away from too much centralized authority in Washington?

His vagueness about specific plans plays directly into the hands of President Johnson and his followers who only have to refute the charges or show the inconsistency. Moreover, there is obvious difficulty for Goldwater supporters. Exactly what did he mean, for instance, in suggesting that the United States might have to deal with the Red Chinese in order to solve the problem of Southeast Asia?

Many predictions have been made that this fall we would see a real debate on foreign and domestic issues and upon the philosophy and nature of government itself. We would welcome such a debate. But so far there has been none.

Sukarno Aims to Make Indonesia Third Power Among Communists

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN AND PAUL SCOTT

The grandiose plans of Indonesia's President Sukarno go far beyond his "naked aggression" to crush Malaysia. This power-hungry, woman - crazy dictator, who has waxed fat on more than $1 billion of U.S. aid, has ambitions that rival those of the fallen and almost forgotten Tojo and Mussolini. He seeks to make Indonesia an equal power in the new Communist axis with Red China and Russia — after destroying Malaysia and the Philippines.

This is the blunt warning contained in a Central Intelligence estimate of the "larger stakes" involved in the Russian-backed aggression that Sukarno is waging against the year-old Malaysian federation. The confidential CIA document, prepared for the National Security Council's use in developing a new policy toward Indonesia, cautions:

"Larger stakes are involved in the contest between Indonesia and Malaysia. The ostensible issue is the future of the territories of Northern Borneo, but we believe Sukarno and his Indonesian supporters have more fundamental objectives in mind.

"They hope to make Indonesia a great world power able to negotiate in equality with China and the U.S.S.R. in relation to the U.S. — after having destroyed Malaysia and having brought the Philippines and the mainland states under Indonesian hegemony." The CIA estimate carefully refrains from predicting the winner in the Indonesian-Malaysian conflict, stating:

"The outcome seems likely to remain uncertain for years to come. The struggle will not be easy for Indonesia despite the recent acquisition of new Soviet arms and the successful termination of the West New Guinea affair.

"Its economic problems will be intensified, and the interested Anglo-Saxon powers will try to prevent Malaysia and the Philippines from falling in behind Indonesian designs."

THE THIRD PARTY — The future of Malaysia is even more precarious.

In the judgment of the CIA authorities, "There is serious doubt that Malaysia can attain its main purpose, namely to create a state controlled by that night by Mrs. Frank Demerath. They included Mrs. John Croatt, president; Mrs. Otto Versteegen, vice president; Mrs. Ed Van Domelen, secretary, and Mrs. John Bergman, treasurer.

William Zuehlke Sr., Appleton, was elected to his second term as president of the Wisconsin Second Volunteer Infantry, Spanish American War Veterans. Ralph E. Caniff, Oshkosh, was elected vice president.

Malays which will utilize the energies and ingenuity of the Chinese without allowing them to dominate."

Of all the nations involved directly or indirectly in this growing conflict, Russia stands the best chance of gaining with the least risk. The CIA document stresses:

"Russia has sought to gain influence in Indonesia, in part to block the Chinese, but even so they probably regard their Indonesian policy as a low cost venture for a potentially high profit rather than as a matter of vital concern."

According to military intelligence sources, the Soviets have furnished Sukarno with $1.2 billion in arms, including jet aircraft, submarines, and ground-to-air missiles similar to those installed in Cuba. The Russians also furnish Sukarno with a full-time Soviet mistress.

WHAT GOES ON—Although the Johnson administration has publicly denounced Sukarno for his guerrilla operations in Sarawak and North Borneo, his chief foreign policy advisers are privately trying to shoot down a Senate approved ban on further U.S. economic and military aid to Indonesia.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Assistant Secretary William Bundy, the President's chief Far East advisers, are lobbying behind-the-scenes in Congress to kill or water down the ban on aid to Indonesia. They are seeking House support to knock the provision out of the foreign aid bill when it goes to conference later this month.

The tight bar against further Indonesian aid was written into the bill in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and approved by the Senate before the administration multi-billion dollar foreign aid proposal was sidetracked temporarily for the medicare battle.

Under previous aid programs the U.S. has built up the Indonesian military by training its fliers and soldiers in counter-insurgency operations. The U.S. furnished the Indonesians small arms, jeeps, and communication equipment.

Three gunboats, ideally armed for island warfare, also were turned over to the Indonesian navy. Military cargo planes, including two 130s used in the recent air drop of paratroopers against Malaysia, were sold to Sukarno by the U.S. during the Kennedy-Johnson administration.

How Do You Figure State Election Now? Here's One View

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — A professional acquaintance in an eastern city recently asked for an assessment of the Johnson-Goldwater election prospects in Wisconsin and warned:

"Don't say it is a toss-up, unless you truly believe that it is."

My friend knows something about the equivocal habits of the Fourth Estate and perhaps remembers also that the realignment of the political system in Wisconsin in recent times has made the business of prognostication a good deal more hazardous than it was in earlier decades.

A preliminary appraisal of the Wisconsin election outlook, considering the presidential election only, presents a highly uncertain picture. Only a very foolish man would now offer any hard and fast forecasts about the results in November, before the campaigns have seriously begun and the issues fully developed.

MUTUAL DOUBTS

There is private doubt about their prospects among the local professionals of both parties. On the face of it, the Democrats appear more confident about their chances than do their rivals.

A Wisconsin observer at Atlantic City a fortnight ago, indeed, was forced to the conclusion that leading Wisconsin Democratic politicians and candidates intend to fasten themselves as closely as they can to the coattails of the Johnson-Humphrey campaign, figuring that the strategy would be more secure than anything they could devise on the basis of their statehouse issues.

Nevertheless, there remains some uncertainty about Johnson as the leader of the liberal Democracy in the minds of many of the Democratic militants of Wisconsin. It is the kind of uneasiness, in fact, that is discernible among many of the normal Republicans about the philosophy and record of Sen. Goldwater as the standard bearer of the Republicans. There are evidently many Democrats who are not yet quite persuaded of the sincerity of the liberal posture of the President, as there are many Wisconsin Republicans of independent and progressive viewpoints who are dubious about the aggressive conservatism of Goldwater.

At the moment, Wisconsin Democrats are busily passing out hints about confidential polls which ostensibly show them far out ahead, at least in presidential election terms. But the reporter remembers comparable situations in other years. In 1960, for example, top Democrats were tipping off writers, in absolute confidence, about their poll findings in the Kennedy - Nixon contest. The returns showed these polls to be wrong, although it was obvious that the local politicians who paid for them believed they were getting the truth.

HISTORY

That the average voter has yet made up his mind is obviously in doubt. One astute observer who has travelled this state intensively for weeks returned to Madison a few days ago with the observation that the big election contest, as he found it in hundreds of chats with representative citizens, appears to be between Goldwater and Reynolds. They are the two most talked about candidates, two months before the final balloting.

Other Wisconsin travellers are puzzled about the reluctance of many persons to talk about the election or their own attitudes. There is a sub-surface ferment, he concluded, that makes the outlook even more uncertain than in other recent campaigns. Does this reluctance to speak out mean that some normal Republicans are tending to drift over to the President's corner? Or does it mean that there is a backing for Goldwater that relates to controversial issues not quite fashionable, or of the kind that ordinary people are disinclined to talk about?

This is the kind of campaign season in which a prudent chronicler is likely to pay close attention for a long time and then to hedge his bets.

It's Easy to Lecture About Pioneer Spirit

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

"You eggheads have lost the spirit that made America so great," said my friend, Blague, as he swung open the door of his new automobile to let me in. "I mean the pioneer spirit that took hardship in its stride."

He stepped on the starter, with its automatic choke, and set the automatic transmission into "Drive."

"Those early settlers knew what it was to struggle," he continued, as he switched on the radio and the heater, while the car settled into "Over-Drive."

"They were indomitable," he pointed out, as he flipped the button on the electrically-controlled windows, and adjusted a lever for air conditioning.

"Life was a constant challenge — and that's the way it has to be," he scowled at me, as his little finger spun the power-steered wheel into a sharp turn.

"You eggheads just don't realize the bracing value of initiative," he accused, gliding to a stop with his power brakes at a red light.

"When will you wake up to the fact that we have to learn to do things for ourselves, as our forefathers did?" he asked, lighting his cigar from the gadget on the dashboard.

"They knew what it was to suffer cold and discomfort," he nodded reflectively, as his right hand moved to switch on the "Defrosting" mechanism.

"And what's more," he added, as he flicked the left-turn-rear - light - arrow, "they weren't afraid to use their bodies for hard work. They weren't always asking other people to make life easier for them."

He pushed three or four buttons on the radio panel to bring in the station he wanted, and said, "The men who made this country great were resourceful and self-sufficient."

By this time, a sooty snow-rain was coming down, and Blague pressed a button releasing a stream of water on the windshield, and then switched on the automatic wipers, adjusting his lights from "Bright" to "Fog."

"I don't know about this car," he murmured, making an absent-minded adjustment of the electrically - controlled front seat. "It doesn't seem to be riding so well. Think I'll take it back for a checkup. Those ads promised me 'effortless driving,' and that's what I aim to get!"

We now have a rare opportunity to solve two problems at once. Change the name of Viet Nam to Indochina and give it to Gen. DeDaulle.

Viet Nam sure takes a lot of explaining. Henry Cabot Lodge has barely finished explaining it to the Europeans when Ambassador Taylor hurries home to explain it to Mr. Johnson.

Ladies of the Christian Commission will be in attendance at their rooms over Mr. E. S. Turner's Store, from 2 to 5 o'clock every afternoon, to receive donations.

All persons in the City and County are urgently requested to contribute, not only of their money, but of everything that will alleviate the hardship and sufferings of the soldiers — fruit for canning, or in cans, home-made wines, pickles, melons, cucumbers, beans, onions and tomatoes for pickling, bandages and rags for use in hospitals.

All of these are greatly needed. The health and proper care of the well, the sick and the wounded, depends upon the supply.

Coups Testify To Instability Of Viet Nam

American Prestige
Could Fall if Reds Win War

BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's administration is in for double damage of the struggle against communism in South Viet Nam now collapses into civil war or chaos.

Only last week Maxwell D. Taylor, U.S. ambassador there, headed back to Viet Nam after a four-day visit here to report on the situation which had been getting steadily worse. But he was optimistic, talked of "eventual victory."

Then Sunday came the fifth upheaval in 10 months. A group of officers, some of them Catholics ousted by Premier Nguyen Khanh and blacklisted by the Buddhists, seized Saigon with a few thousand troops.

U. S. Backing

They called Khanh a traitor. Later in the day the United States announced it was backing Khanh. Still later in the day the coup collapsed, the troops withdrew, and Khanh still seemed in control.

All this is testimony to the unstable condition in South Viet Nam where the Red guerrillas from North Viet Nam have been trying for years to take over the whole country and are making progress.

Their biggest help has been the internal deterioration in the south. At this moment no one can predict what comes tomorrow. Civil war, perhaps. If so:

American Prestige

1. American prestige in Asia will suffer perhaps a fatal blow in its struggle against communism on the continent. What other country then would depend on U.S. guidance or help?

This country has been aiding the South Vietnamese for eight years, has 18,000 military men there, supposedly as trainers and advisers, has lost over 200 of them, has pumped in billions of dollars in military and economic help.

2. The situation could become a prime issue in the U.S. presidential campaign.

Latest Revolt

In the latest upheaval Brig. Gen. Lam Van Phat, a Roman Catholic, and other officers marched into Saigon with their troops and announced seizure of the government. This was only a symptom of the ailment.

The South Vietnamese are split by Catholic-Buddhist factions and the disputes and ambitions of generals. They lack the unity and general will necessary to solve their paramount problem: victory over the Reds.

20,000 Germans Escaped Since Wall Was Built

BERLIN (AP) — Nearly 20,000 East Germans made their way through minefields or past barbed wire and armed guards since the Berlin Wall was built Aug. 13, 1961, West German sources said Saturday. A total 105 are known to have been killed in escape attempts.

But the East German Communist newspaper Neues Deutschland claimed recently that almost three times as many West Germans, 5,756 crossed into East Germany during the same period to take up residence there. West German figures indicate that since the wall went up about 30,000 West Germans went to live in East Germany.

There are no restrictions for persons wishing to cross into the East.

The latest successful west-bound escape came in daylight Saturday at Brunswick, West Germany, where four grownups and a 14-month-old baby crossed the iron curtain.

According to Western sources, 2,250,000 Germans crossed from East to West between 1945 and DENVER, Colo. (AP) — In the skies over an eight-block area of East Denver flutter some 10,000 noisy starlings, shutting out the evening sun and dismaying residents.

The unwanted birds roost in the trees at night.

The birds invaded Denver last fall as well, but stayed only about four weeks then.

"They fly down to the trees about 5:30 p.m. each day and wake up at 4:30 a.m. the next morning," Mrs. Frank Pomeranz said. "The chatter is awful. It wakes everybody."

was meant to happen, or it wouldn't have happened."

Joanne said all the children except Robert were in bed when the blaze broke out.

Robert was in the basement, lighting the wood-fired furnace.

"I heard a crack like a jar breaking or something," said. "I got up to find out what it was. Robert said there was a fire and to get the kids out. I tried to wake them up."

Children Upstairs

The children all were upstairs, the girls in one room and the boys in another.

"They were so scared they just ran around in circles and didn't know what to do," Joanne said. "I opened all the windows."

Robert came upstairs and told the children to flee. The fire flared into the stairway, and all the children were trapped upstairs.

"I jumped out the window and got on my bike," Joanne said. Flames had engulfed the house by the time fire trucks arrived. Fireman Bill Wilson said, "The kids never had a prayer of a chance."

Funeral Wednesday

Firemen sifted the ashes for bodies of the victims. The last was found around 6 a.m. Fire Chief Howard Wilde said it was the worst fire he'd ever seen.

Mrs. Bowditch has borne 15 children. Her first five children, with the surname Pouchow, are grown and living away from home. Her second husband, Robert McConnell, was killed in World War II. The four youngest of her children were by Bowditch.

Funeral services for the children will be held Wednesday in Bethel Baptist Church, Mankato. Capt. Donald L. Brundridge of the Salvation Army will officiate, assisted by the Rev. Val Hauck of the Bethel Church.

Mrs. Edward DeAtley, West Mankato, a sister of Mrs. Bowditch, said the cost of the funeral and burial plots had been donated.

"The Bowditches had everything at that house," Mrs. DeAtley said. "They have nothing but the clothes on their backs."

Khanh Retains Power After Failure of Coup

Dinh Diem was overthrown last Nov. 1, and Khanh took power Jan. 30 from Gen. Duong Van Minh, leader of the anti-Diem uprising. Khanh was nearly driven from office in August and early September by three weeks of violent Buddhist and student-led demonstrations against the government.

Gen. Ky Stands Firm

The new attempt to seize power was led by army generals blacklisted by the Buddhists, to whom Khanh had made concessions in an effort to unify the nation. The coup collapsed primarily because most of the units involved were unwilling to fight and because 33-year-old Gen. Ky staunchly refused to surrender the Saigon airport to the rebels.

The rebels moved into Saigon early Sunday led by Brig. Gen. Lam Van Phat, a Roman Catholic who was fired as interior minister by Khanh under Buddhist pressure last week. Later, Brig. Gen. Duong Van Duc, commander of the Vietnamese Phat Duc army's IV Corps, appeared to take charge of the rebellion.

Command Post Set Up

Four jeeps with machine guns drove to a police post at the edge of the city. The soldiers quickly disarmed the startled policemen. A command post headed by Phat was set up 150 yards from a key U.S. military communications center.

Supported by five battalions, the rebels established a bridgehead into the capital behind two armored personnel carriers and two armored cars. A company of Rangers took positions along the Phu Lan bridge as another police station offered no resistance.

A little more than an hour later, the first combat vehicles threaded through heavy traffic toward the premier's residence, the radio station, the post office, City Hall and other key areas. By noon the rebels controlled most of the city.

Khanh Not In City

High point of the uprising came when the rebels seized the joint general staff headquarters. Insurgents aimed guns at the gates and government forces manned rocket launchers on the other side of the compound but did not fire.

went to bed, but sometime during the night she awoke and became ill. She opened the outside door and took a breath, which Mork said may have saved her.

She then tried to wake her father but could not, so she went back to bed.

She told the undersheriff she thought her father was sick and just sleeping. Sometime later the girl awoke again and again tried and failed to wake her father.

Mork said the girl apparently was in a daze during her attempt to rouse her father.

When Mrs. Winske and a friend arrived at the cottage, they found the father and son dead and the girl in a semi-unconscious state. They called the sheriff's department and a doctor.

Dr. Gerald Salan, deputy Waukegan County coroner, this morning ruled the deaths were caused by secondary asphyxiation due to lack of oxygen.

He said the charcoal apparently was still burning when the grill was brought into the building and apparently consumed all of the oxygen in the 10 by 18 foot cottage. Mork described the cottage, which was owned by Winske, as being "airtight."

No autopsy will be conducted, Salan said.

He was a member of Zion Lutheran Church, the Appleton Elks Club, the Appleton Yacht Club and a World War II Veteran. He was a commander in the U. S. Power Squadron.

His son was a student in Zion Lutheran School.

Survivors are the widow, Winske's two sisters and five brothers and a son and daughter.

Funeral services for father and son will be at 3 p.m. Wednesday in Zion Lutheran Church with burial in Highland Memorial Park.

"My replies could contribute nothing to a solution of the problem and could inflame an already tense situation and give rise to a reaction that would make a solution more difficult," he said.

Reynolds disclosed he has been in touch with governors of other states in which the NFO is active and with Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman.

The governor was obviously troubled by the challenge of the tense NFO demonstrations which were expected to resume in many localities today. He described the situation as one involving a delicate balance between the need to maintain law and order on the one hand and the right of lawful assembly, freedom of speech and the right of producers to sell and to refuse to sell.

to get drinks out of the artesian wells in the area."

Some men escaped capture and managed to get to Corregidor, one of several small island fortresses guarding the mouth of Manila Bay. One of these was Matthew MacDowell, 52, of Hillside, Ill., a former lieutenant in B Company of the 192nd.

When Corregidor fell May 6, its defenders were also marched up the peninsula. "If you faltered you were prompted by the tip of a Japanese bayonet," MacDowell said.

Pfc. Howard F. Bower was a 23-year-old cook stationed at Ft. McKinley outside Manila. He is now the Rev. Mr. Bower, a United Presbyterian chaplain at the 5th Headquarters Missile Battalion, Shreveport, La.

Marched All Night

"We left Ft. McKinley on maneuvers Thanksgiving Day of 1941 and went down the peninsula," Bower recalled. "We never got back. We joined the trek to the tip of Bataan on Christmas Eve," he said.

"We travelled all night and got to Bagac at 4 a.m. Christmas morning," Bower said. "We stretched out on tombstones in a cemetery but we woke up with the help of a Japanese airborne alarm clock."

"There was no food on the march and we had to get water out of ditches," he said. "Some of the men went stark raving mad in the blazing sun. About 80 per cent suffered from malaria and dysentery was rife."

Tortuous months in prison compounds on the Philippines and Japan followed the march. "I helped bury 2,000 men in two months time in Camp O'Donnell on Luzon," recalled Robert W. Levering, attorney from Mount Vernon, Ohio.

Most of the men who survived the march and the concentration camps were liberated and returned to the United States in September 1945. Many weighed less than 100 pounds.

Most now have the paunch that comes with middle age and security and you can't tell them from most other men.

The East Germans again retreated. As Puhl covered Meyer, two West Berliners got a stepladder and wire cutters. Firemen brought a rope and Puhl dropped it to the wounded man.

define shared authority the Pope added:

"Let every one understand that the convocation of this council has been a free and spontaneous act on the part of our venerated predecessor, of happy memory, John XXIII, an act which we have readily confirmed knowing full well that the theme of this sovereign and sacred assembly would deal with the episcopate."

War Disrupted Earlier Efforts

"It could not have been otherwise."

The previous Vatican Council 94 years ago defined papal primacy and then broke up because of civil war in Italy before it could take up scheduled work on a complementary definition of episcopal authority.

Other Christians often consider the Catholic concept of papal primacy a bar to closer contacts with Roman Catholicism.

Would Assure Unity

Addressing observers sent to the council by other Christian churches, he said: "We wish to assure you once more of our purposes and hope to be able one day to remove every obstacle, every misunderstanding, every hesitancy that still prevents us from feeling fully of one heart and one soul in Christ."

Pope Paul said he would "strive, in loyalty to the unity of Christ's church, to understand better and to welcome all that is genuine and admissible in the different Christian denominations that are distinct from us; and at the same time we beg of them to try to understand the Catholic faith and life better."

Some non-Catholic Christian circles have felt that the Pope had recently over-emphasized Roman Catholic belief that theirs is the one true church.

In an apparent reference to this, Pope Paul said:

"When we invite them to enter into the fullness of truth and charity which, as an unmerited blessing put a formidable responsibility, Christ has chartered us to preserve, we beg them not to take it in bad part, but as being prompted by respect and brotherly love. For

Undercurrent May Turn Vote Either Direction

Sen. Goldwater Must Overcome Bad
Image Projected in All News Media

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
WASHINGTON — One sometimes sees a race in which the favorite horse jumps off to a lead of several lengths at the start and almost everybody in the stands immediately concludes it is all over — and then another horse moves up gradually and at the finish line just noses out the front-runner.

Lawrence

This could describe the presidential race now under way, provided the current second-place runner really learns in time how to run for the highest office in the land and can overcome the handicaps of publicity against him which benefit his competitor.

President Johnson has had a masterful job of publicity done in his behalf. From the moment he came into the White House on Nov. 22, 1963, the eyes of the nation have been fastened on him. He has had at least seven months of uninterrupted opportunity — through TV, radio and the press—to present a favorable image of himself to the people and to capitalize on the political assets developed by his predecessor, without assuming many of the liabilities.

The Republican Party, on the other hand—being disorganized, as an opposition party usually is—did not make use of the same facilities of expression available to it. The opposition, of course, does not have the benefit of the vast governmental machine which engages in many a politically motivated action of an official nature and pours out statements on almost every conceivable subject that could affect the voters. Some day the party out of power will learn how to organize a continuing opposition to carry on every day of every year. This is done effectively in Great Britain.

It is not at all surprising, therefore, that many of the public opinion polls today show Mr. Johnson in the lead by a substantial margin. The polls have been wrong before—even as recently as the California Republican primary in June—but they do reflect a simple fact of life in politics. It is that whoever occupies the White House has from the outset of a campaign a long lead on any rival candidate who can be dislodged only if there is a strong protest or negative vote. This usually turns out to be more of an accumulation of grievances over things that are being blamed on the incumbent administration than necessarily an expression in favor of the rival candidate.

Already the Democratic politicians, with their private polls, are discounting the "cross-over" vote, but this, of course, is something of which they can't be sure. Surprises have occurred again and again in American political history. Favorites do not always win, as was evidenced last week when a favorite, Governor Peabody of Massachusetts, was beaten for re-nomination in the Democratic primary even though he had the endorsement of the Kennedy family. Maybe the private polls were wrong there, too.

Mr. Johnson seems to have a good chance to be elected—he certainly is the favorite in the betting today—but he can't be too sure of victory. For no body knows the extent of the protest vote, and no polls can accurately reflect it. The issues are such that many people prefer not to indicate their leanings to anybody. Some are silent through fear, and others don't like to argue with their neighbors, and least of all to talk to interviewers for polls. Mr. Johnson has had experience with close elections and is likely, therefore, to keep on running hard till the last day of the campaign.

More Headlines

The Bobby Baker case will get some more headlines, but unless the disclosures can pinpoint a direct connection with Mr. Johnson himself, there is not likely to be much mileage in that issue for the Republicans.

Mr. Johnson had a tough task in a political sense when he took over the presidency. He had to sell himself quickly as a stable, effective leader. Being an experienced politician with some veteran political experts surrounding him, he has been able to line up not only the local politicians but a few executives in big business. The rush to support Mr. Johnson by some of the beneficiaries of government contracts and of other financial outlays in various communities has been noticeable.

In the last analysis, however, the big question is whether the undercurrent of protest against the conditions produced by the rise in crime, by "civil rights" riots and by federal intrusions into community life is strong enough to swing to the Republican side the bulk of the "undecided" vote—as the pollsters call it—and to recover some of those who at first deserted the Republican nominee.

Senator Goldwater has less than two months in which to make his campaign. He can't just try to counter the platitudes uttered by his opponent with his own set of platitudes. But he can articulate the protest and discontent in the country on a variety of subjects — among them a depreciating dollar and a disintegrating foreign policy that could bring on a big war.

By explaining persuasively the significance of these points to the average man, the Republican nominee may increase substantially the percentage of the vote he has today and perhaps fool the pollsters in November.
